Here in Florence, we have much to be thankful for: An unhurried lifestyle with small town charm & friendly people and of some of the best natural scenery found anywhere. The local economy and real estate market in general are both positive and upbeat. Life is good here and like we have for the last 60 years, we come to work every day to advocate for our many wonderful clients, thankful, and privileged to be of service. Let us all stop and appreciate the good things in life we experience here in Florence.
