Cape Perpetua Land-Sea Symposium Nov. 20

YACHATS — Join Surfrider Foundation, Audubon Society and more than a dozen participating organizations for the third annual Cape Perpetua Land-Sea Symposium, Nov. 20, in Yachats.

A free event for all, the Land-Sea Symposium is aimed at promoting local stewardship efforts and raising awareness about current research being conducted within the Cape Perpetua nearshore and adjacent watersheds.

This year’s event will kick off with an update on the Ocean Science Trust from Senator Arnie Roblan and follow with presentations from NOAA, OSU, ODFW and Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw.

This year’s keynote speaker, Laurie Weitkamp of NOAA, will be presenting: “The Blob vs. El Nino.”

Since the warm “blob” first appeared in late 2013, the NE Pacific Ocean and adjacent terrestrial environments have been unusually warm. In spring 2015, an El Nino began to develop at the equator, which will reach full strength during winter 2015/2016 and likely be one of the largest on record.

Dr. Weitkamp will provide a review of these two events and describe some of the biological impacts they’re having in local waters and across the North Pacific.

Food and beverage provided and with over a dozen participating organizations, student posters, local research and volunteer efforts represented, there’s something for everyone.
