Affordable Housing is Desperately Needed in Florence.

Donors Make it Possible...Volunteers Make it Happen!

The Volunteers and Donors Supporting Habitat for Humanity NEED YOU!

Seventeen years and still going! The partnership of the City of Florence, Florence residents, businesses, churches and service clubs and Habitat for Humanity has made a significant contribution to the quality of life in Florence and this is worth celebrating!

Twenty-seven families have been given the opportunity to build and buy a new home. Eighteen homeowners have accepted the offer of assistance to repair or modify their houses so that they could continue to live in them despite disability, ill health or limited financial resources. Through Habitat, the Coast Village neighborhood has been able to assist its residents to convert their electrical energy systems from park power to the Central Lincoln PUD service.

This is a real, tangible investment in the Florence community, which is made possible by financial supporters and volunteers who provide their labor and expertise to the demands of construction. Volunteers help us operate a successful charitable corporation in Oregon. We applaud and thank these far-seeing citizens. They know that there is no future without attention to and support for the elderly, who built this community, and for the young families whose labor provides the services we need.

Too often our local businesses cannot retain the employees they need because decent, safe, affordable housing is impossible to find within reasonable commuting distance. Too many young families and elderly homeowners cannot afford to pay what it costs to live in the Florence area. Habitat for Humanity provides a chance for workers, their employers, and their customers to come together for the benefit of all.

Please come by, talk to staff and volunteers and consider becoming a supporter. It is so important! If Habitat is to continue in Florence it must have your support. Habitat needs funding. It needs volunteers. And especially it needs land, houses for rehabilitation and materials for construction. The City of Florence has announced plans for enhancement of our urban area attractions, and we all acknowledge that without adequate housing there will not be the workers or customers to support the economic growth City planners envision. Your support is critical!
