The 13 members of the 2016 Rhododendron Court “caught the wave” and got into the Rhody spirit at the Rhododendron Scholarship Showcase on May 11.

The three Senior Court Princesses, the five Junior Princes and the five Junior Princesses opened the showcase with a dance to a medley of nautical tunes in a rousing opening number.

Three teams, the Electric Eels, Jumping

Jellyfish and Whallopings Whales, played games to win points before Senior Princesses Hanna Anderson, Taylor Coolidge and Lyndsey Keppol presented platforms featuring the impact of the arts, the power of positive body image and the importance of life.

The Senior Princesses also performed talents that included singing, writing and performing a radio show and demonstrating martial arts moves.

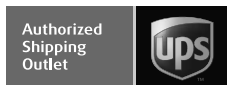

All 13 members of the Rhody Court answered questions in interviews with emcee Cindy Wobbe and 2015 Queen Rhododendra Kennedy Roylance.

At the end of the evening, judges tallied the princesses’ points and awarded Anderson as this year’s Queen Rhododendra.
