ODFW reminds public to leave young wildlife alone

SALEM — May and June are the months when newborn animals are getting their start in the wild. Help them out by giving them space and leaving them alone.

ODFW and Oregon State Police remind Oregonians that taking young animals out of the wild isn't just against the law — it's also bad for the animal. These animals miss the chance to learn important survival skills from their parents like where to feed, what to eat, how to behave as part of a group and how to escape from predators. Unfortunately, every year about this time, ODFW offices across Oregon get calls from people concerned about "orphaned" deer fawns, elk calves, seal pups and other animals they find alone. But the mother animal is usually just off feeding not far away. She will return soon, so don't interfere. "People often pick up animals they find alone out of good intentions, without realizing they may be sentencing the animal to an early death by removing it from its natural environment and its parents," said Julia Burco, ODFW district wildlife veterinarian. Before picking up any wild animal, call ODFW, Oregon State Police, or a wildlife rehabilitator for advice. For beachcombers, if you see a marine mammal that appears in distress, contact OSP's hotline at 1-800-452-7888.

Track from 1B

West League, junior thrower Josi Hays, who won the MWL discus title this year, had the top individual state finish for the Mapleton girls with an eighth-place mark in the discus at 90 feet, 3 inches.

Freshman teammate Haley Wells threw the discus 80 feet, 9 inches for 11th place. In the javelin, freshman Erin Michael, who placed second at district, threw 82 feet, 9 inches at state to finish 11th.

The Lady Sailors also got a 12th-place finish from freshman Alyssa Richards, who ran the 3,000 meters in 15:58.64.

Friday, the Sailors continued at state (after press deadlines) with Clarissa Triebskorn, Hannah Rodet, Richards and Michael competing in the 4x400-meter race; Triebskorn in the 800 meters; Hays in the shot put; Tanner Wilson in the javelin; and AJ Foster, Evan Moso, Packebush and Simington in the boys 4x100-meter relay.

Look for full results in Wednesday's sports section.

Athletes from 1B

there will be no admission charge. The event is open to all who wish to attend and honor all 41 student athletes.
