Marohl selected to be middle school principal

By JACK DAVIS
Siuslaw News

Siuslaw School District announced on May 13 that Andy Marohl would be the new Principal of Siuslaw Middle School starting July 1, replacing Andy Grzeskowiak who was promoted to district superintendent.

For the past nine years, Marohl has taught seventh-grade science at the middle school. At the beginning of this school year, he was promoted to vice-principal for both the elementary and middle schools.

In addition, Marohl has served as the district's STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Math) coordinator for the past three years.

"Andy is so highly qualified for this position," Siuslaw School District Superintendent Ethel Angal said. "He was a respected teacher at the middle school and he has been a leader in the district in a number of ways."

Marohl also helped develop the popular Outdoor Adventures program for fifth and seventh graders.

"He is solid instructionally and this year he has served the difficult role of being the assistant principal for both the elementary and middle schools," Angal said. "He has shown good judgment and the ability to work well with students and families in that role."

According to Angal, Marohl played a crucial leadership role this past year in helping staff with the laborious process of converting the district's computer programming over to a new software program called Synergy.

"Our data conversion has been very difficult," Angal said. "He has done an amazing job with that."

The school board decided to select Grzeskowiak's replacement from current district staff.

"I believe that in order to build schools and build community relations it is good to have people that are rooted in our community whenever possible," Angal said. "He is going to be wonderful in the role of middle school principal."

Veterans

from 1A

An offering of flowers was presented at the park memorial wall. The presentation concluded with Taps being played by trumpeter John Stone.

At the end of the ceremony, veterans gave each student an American flag.

The veteran's presentation was part of a second-grade field trip for three classes. Students also took part in a scavenger hunt in Old Town and sketched the Siuslaw Bridge from the interpretive center.

On Memorial Day, Monday, May 30, the community is invited to attend several services that honor past and present veterans.

Beginning at 10 a.m., the Florence Elks Lodge, 1686 12th St., will host a memorial service.

At 11 a.m., the Florence American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will host a Memorial Day service at the Veteran's Memorial Park, located on Bay Street in Florence.

During the ceremony, members of the U.S. Coast Guard Station Siuslaw River will perform a wreath-laying ceremony on the river.

At 1 p.m., the Veterans of Foreign Wars will dedicate a new flag pole as part of the veterans memorial service at the Florence cemetery.

A shuttle will be available at 12:30 p.m. at the Elks Lodge to take people to the cemetery for the 1 p.m. service and dedication.

Election

from 1A

"Help contribute to your community by serving on the city council," she said.

Being a councilor or mayor offers an opportunity to shape policy governing the future of Florence and to learn about local government and the community.

To apply, complete a filing packet between Wednesday, June 1, and Tuesday, Aug. 16. Packets are available online at www.ci.florence.or.us and at Florence City Hall, 250 Highway 101.

Henry, Greene and Preisler said they plan to run for their current positions again.

"I plan to be at Kelli's office first thing on June 1," Greene said at the meeting.

In an email, Henry said, "Absolutely I will run again. I have enjoyed being mayor and am very excited about the things that are going on in our city. I want to be there to see them brought to completion."

For more information on the electoral process, contact Weese at 541-997-3437 or at kelli.weese@ci.florence.or.us.

Contest

from 1A

Son of Ahren and Trudie Cahoon of Florence, Benjamin Cahoon does 3D ceramics, scratchboard, watercolors, acrylic, pastels, chalk, charcoal, graphite and photography. He also plays saxophone in the Siuslaw High School jazz band and symphony.

"I have been drawing ever since I could pick up a pencil," Cahoon said. "I was 3 years old. I didn't start to refine my talents until about half way through middle school."

Cahoon was also chosen to paint "Eco," the Dancing with Sea Lions entry for the Siuslaw Public Library. It represents the ecosystems of Oregon and is currently on display outside the library.

Cards displaying his artwork are available at the Silver Sand Dollar in Old Town.

Cahoon plans to study art in college and eventually hopes to become a college art professor.

He has some advice for other young artists.

"Don't stop, ever. Even if you are angry at a piece or angry at something you have done, just keep working, whether it is on that same piece or a different one. The practice will train you to be able to do better pieces," Cahoon said.
