Free middle school summer engineering camp coming to Florence

Do you know a middle school student who likes to create, build and find out how things work?

The Oregon Coast STEM Hub has partnered with Oregon State University (OSU) Precollege Programs to offer a Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) camp this summer in three locations on the coast.

On June 22, the STEM camp will come to Florence.

Each free two-day camp will be led by college students from OSU's Center for Outreach in Science and Engineering for Youth.

Students who will be entering seventh, eighth or ninth-grade will explore careers in STEM fields through engaging, hands-on activities like building catapults, creating solar cars and building wave energy devices.

COURTESY PHOTO

Participants in the STEM program test their solar-powered creations during camp.

This is a great opportunity to develop teamwork, communication and leadership skills, and to learn from OSU mentors about what it's like to go to college in a STEM field.

The program runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day, and lunch is included.

Space is limited and pre-registration is required.

Camp flyers and links to online registration are available at www.tinyurl.com/COSEY camps. To obtain a paper registration form, call 541-867-0329.

The Oregon Coast STEM Hub promotes integrated science, technology, engineering and math education and serves coastal teachers, students and communities.

To learn more about the COSEY Engineering camps or other summer STEM opportunities for youth, visit the Oregon Coast STEM Hub website at oregoncoaststem.oregonstate.edu or email OregonCoastSTEM@oregonstate.edu.

OPB features artwork from FRAA's Williams

Oregon Pacific Bank, (OPB) and Florence Regional Arts Alliance (FRAA) invite the public to view paintings by local artist Patricia Williams at OPB's main branch on Highway 101.

Williams' watercolors and oils are inspired by the excitement and love she feels viewing nature and divine light. She has a degree in fine art and has taught watercolors in the School of Light and Color as well as Blue Moon Gallery in northern California. Her award-winning art has been published worldwide, and has been shown in many exhibits. She is a member of FRAA.

Williams also creates jewelry inspired by nature.

For more information on Williams' art, contact her studio at 916-296-0485.

Aglow holds garage sale

Visitors will find lots of treasures at the Florence Aglow Community Lighthouse garage sale Friday and Saturday, June 24 and 25. The garage sale, 1515 N. Siano Loop, runs from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

Florence Aglow Community Lighthouse is a part of Aglow International, a non-profit and non-denominational organization that was started in 1967 in Seattle, Wash., by four women who expressed a desire to meet together as Christians without denominational boundaries.

Today, Aglow spans the globe with a network of caring people, and continues to reach out to women and men of every creed, color and culture, and to families.

More than 22,000 Aglow leaders worldwide minister in their communities and nations, to an estimated 17 million people each year. Today, indigenous leaders are overseeing Aglow groups in nearly 170 nations.

The Florence Aglow Community Lighthouse meets on the first Saturday of each month at 10 a.m., at the Florence Vineyard Church, 2610 Kingwood St.

Everyone is invited and welcome to join in fellowship with the local Aglow Lighthouse.

Money raised at this garage sale will go into the general fund of the Florence Aglow Community Lighthouse to help the local Aglow lighthouse in all the areas, including meetings, rallies, conferences and events.
