FRAA seeks to expand arts in education locally

Florence Regional Arts Alliance (FRAA) is looking for local artists interested in partnering with Siuslaw School District and Lane Arts Council to expand arts education in the district schools through a "teaching artist" program.

This is for artists in all media, including 2D, 3D, poetry, creative writing, theatre, dance and music.

Artists will be compensated for their time and materials. Current rates for similar Lane

Arts Council programs are just over $30 per hour.

The tentative schedule for this program is mid-January 2017 through February.

The call to artists informational meeting is on Monday, June 20, at 5 p.m., at the FRAA Art Center, 120 Maple St. All interested local artists are encouraged to attend.

For more information on the program, call Lauren Suveges at Lane Arts Council at 541-485-2278.

closed from Saturday, Aug. 20, through Monday, Sept. 5.

Local 'hams' to have 'Field Day'

Florence amateur "ham" radio operators will join thousands of amateur radio operators worldwide to demonstrate their effectiveness and proficiency in providing critical communications after a catastrophic event such as an earthquake or tsunami.

On the weekend of June 25 to 26, members of the Central Oregon Coast Amateur Radio Club (COCARC) will establish three amateur radio stations capable of communicating all over the Pacific Northwest and the west coast — and if conditions are favorable, all over the world.

The club supports, maintains and operates emergency communications stations at the Florence Justice Center and the Siuslaw Valley Fire and Rescue main station, as well as adjunct equipment in other community facilities in town, along with a powerful 2-meter repeater at the top of Mt. Herman Peak.

COCARC members will establish and staff four amateur radio stations at Sutton Campground in Group Area A beginning at 11 a.m. on Saturday, June 25, and will operate continuously for 24 hours until Sunday, June 26, at 11 a.m.

They will communicate with other stations in Canada, the United States and Oceania to test abilities, equipment and practices. One station will be a Get On The Air (GOTA) station for public education and demonstration.

This will be an exciting educational experience for club members, local fire and police department staff, city staff and the community at large.

Field Day is the largest amateur radio event in the world. Last year, more than 2,600 different groups and more than 37,000 licensed operators across the U.S. and Canada participated in this event. This year, ham operators will construct emergency radio stations at fire stations, parks, shopping malls, schools and backyards all around the country.

The Amateur Radio slogan, "When All Else Fails, Ham Radio Works" is more than just words.

Hams will again demonstrate their ability to send messages in many forms without the use of phone systems, internet or any other infrastructure that may be compromised in a crisis.

Over the past several years, the news of catastrophic events around the world and here at home have summoned ham operators to volunteer their skill and equipment to aid in saving lives and protecting property.

There are more than 700,000 FCC-licensed Amateur Radio operators in the U.S. and more than 2.5 million around the world. Hams voluntarily provide emergency communications for thousands of state and local emergency response agencies. Wildfires, blizzards, floods, earthquakes and tsunamis are events radio operators endeavor to prepare for and Field Day is a valuable tool to exercise and cultivate readiness and capabilities.

The Central Oregon Amateur Radio Club invites the public to participate in Field Day 2016.
