Go on the road with LCC's summer Outward Ventures

Lane Community College Florence Center, 3149 Oak St., is offering a few summer road trips through its Outward Ventures program.

The regional day trips start Wednesday, June 22, with a visit to Corvallis to learn about the secret life of the humble bee with a visit to Oregon State University's Oak Creek Center for Urban Horticulture.

After a crash course in bee research and a honey tasting, participants will head to Nectar Creek to taste mead produced with regional honey.

On Tuesday, June 28, Outward Ventures will head to Veneta for stops at two small wineries, Domaine Meriwether and LaVelle Vineyards, for tastings and a picnic lunch.

For those who want to stick close to the sand, Mike Bones will take groups out clamming to share his favorite spots to dig for mud clams on Friday, July 8, and Saturday, July 23.

The program will visit Eugene to experience two musicals: on Sunday, July 10, for the Actors Cabaret for brunch and a matinee production of "The Little Mermaid" and on Sunday, Aug. 7, to the Shedd Institute for a matinee of "On the Town."

Early registration is required to attend either musical.

LCC's summer trips also include a Wednesday, Aug. 3, Salem visit that starts at the Museum of Mental Health, where "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" was filmed at Oregon State Hospital.

The museum features exhibits on the hospital's history through the personal stories of its patients and employees.

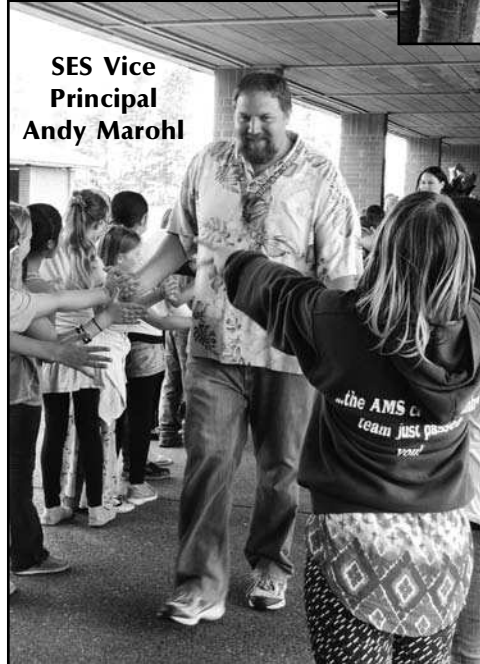

Outward Ventures will also make a stop at the Capitol for a guided tour before heading back to Florence.

"We're excited to offer our students fun educational and cultural experiences this summer that aren't too far from home," said Marsha Sills, LCC Florence Center Continuing Education program coordinator. "Registration has started for the summer semester and we encourage those interested in any of these trips to register early to secure their spot."

For more information about Outward Ventures, visit www.lanecce.edu/ce or call Sills, program coordinator, at 541-997-8444, ext. 4825.
