A Share in Death

By Deborah Crombie
Book review by Susie Voth

What to do? What to do when one is waiting for the next installment from one's favorite author, or authors as the case may be?

Try a new-to-me author is the answer.

Deborah Crombie is an author my friend Beth has been encouraging me to read for quite some time and, as I wait for the next Masie Dobbs book and the next Chief Inspector Gamache book, well, why not?

In "A Share in Death," Newly promoted Detective Superintendent Duncan Kincaid just wrapped up a big case and by great good fortune; his cousin gifted him with a week at a timeshare. Although Kincaid doesn't think that timeshare is his "cup of tea," he's tired and in need of a vacation, therefore he heads off to Woolsey-under-Bank in Yorkshire.

As will happen in murder mysteries, Kincaid has little chance to rest and recuperate before a murder takes place at Followdale, the very posh timeshare.

The local detective, Detective Chief Inspector Nash, arrives at the scene of the murder, deems it a suicide, and dismisses Kincaid's experience and observations (no suicide note for example) and calls him "one of Scotland Yard's fancy men."

The timeshare get-away quickly becomes a working vacation for Kincaid. He calls in his partner, Sergeant Gemma James, to help with the collection of information and evidence.

James has only recently begun to work with Kincaid, yet she has become accustomed to him and misses the day to day working relationship that has been established. She is eager to work.

"A Share in Death" is the first in the Kincaid/James mystery series and as usual, the book introduces the reader to the characters; they are not yet fully fleshed out.

Currently, there are 18 books in the series and the team of Kincaid and James has had many more murderous adventures.

Summer Reading program activities in full swing

If you haven't signed up for summer reading yet, be sure to do so. Children, teens and adults are all invited to participate, and there are programs and activities for all ages.

There are story times on Tuesday and Friday mornings, a variety of movies for kids and adults on Thursday afternoon, adult programs most Tuesdays through July and, of course, there's the weekly Thursday morning (10:30 a.m.) Read, Set, Play! activity each week at the library for kids.

Sign up, get your schedule, and start taking part in the most popular library program of the year.

Mark your calendars!

Some upcoming adult programs include author Connie Soper, discussing the Oregon Coast Trail and her book about hiking it on Tuesday, July 12, at 6 pm; the Friends of the Library celebrating "Feed your Mind" with games and brain food on Tuesday, July 19, at noon; and finally Jennings and Keller, a wonderful musical duo playing their own music. on Tuesday, July 19, at 6 p.m.

And planning is already underway for some wonderful programs coming this fall.

Be sure to check out your library!

WLCF announces continuing ed. scholarship

Western Lane Community Foundation (WLCF) has announced its second annual Continuing Education Scholarships program for 2016.

These scholarships are awarded annually to students who live within the Florence, Dunes City, Mapleton and Deadwood areas and who have already graduated from high school, have their diploma, GED or were home schooled, and are eligible to enter higher education or trade schools.

Such applicants as second-, third- and fourth-year college students, students entering post graduate programs, adults returning to higher education, trade schools, special arts programs, etc., after career or family changes, job losses, older individuals and non-traditional students would be eligible to apply.

Scholarships are available for traditional four-year universities, colleges, community colleges and approved trade schools.

While academic achievement is one criteria used in determining recipients, other qualifying characteristics include financial need, outside activities, work history and volunteerism.

Those who meet these minimum qualifications are encouraged to complete an application, accompanied by a copy of their transcript of grades through senior year of high school or any completed post-high school education, two letters of recommendation and a resume including honors, awards, clubs, community service and work history for the last five years.

Applications can be obtained and submitted online at wlcflf@wlcflonline.org, or mailed to WLCF, P.O. Box 1589, Florence, OR 97439.

The deadline for postmark or receipt is July 15.

Consider hosting a Japanese youth this summer

Lane County is seeking host families for this summer. The Oregon 4-H International Program is offering the opportunity for families to host Japanese delegates from Sunday, July 24, through Saturday, Aug. 20.

It is important to make host family assignments as soon as possible so that families and exchange delegates can communicate and get to know each other prior to arrival in Oregon.

Who can host:
• Oregon families who are interested in other cultures and enjoy working with youth (ages 12-15).

• A separate bed is required. However, a separate room from the host sibling is not necessarily required.

• A potential host family must have a same gender sibling within two years of age of the delegate.

• Delegates are 100 percent medically covered with 4-H insurance and bring their own spending money.

• They can go on host family vacations, camping trips or join their host sibling for summer camps.

• The focus is everyday life. The benefits of being a host family include:

• Increasing cross-culture and global understanding, broadening communication skills, making a new friend from another country and having fun while leaning about Japan in your own home.

• A future opportunity is available for host siblings to travel to Japan and stay with a Japanese family for one or two months.

What you do:

• The host family treats the delegate as a family member, rather than a tourist/guest, and keeps a "regular" family schedule. That could mean: chores, fairs, camping, ballgames, playing board games, etc., very busy or not so busy. It just depends on what your family likes to do.

• Local coordinators are available 24/7 by phone.

The application is as follows:

• Delegates will be matched with a host family after the family has been approved through the application process. At that time, program coordinators will make matches based on the available delegates.

• For more information, contact at Lauren Hesse at 541-268-6943. Information is also available at www.oregon.4h.oregonstate.edu/programs/global-citizenship/exc-in/japan.

Here is a list of Japanese delegates who are coming to
