Thursday's camp brought together volunteers from STEP, the SWC and Rangers from Honeyman State Park to provide three separate learning stations under the guidance of SWC camp director Elizabeth Manley. "It's a great opportunity to give kids of all ages a chance to explore the watershed," says Manley, who explains that the volunteers make it happen. "We couldn't do it without them and the support of OWEB, WCLF, our partnership with the Siuslaw School District, and through private donations."

During the Intermediate Camp, students in grades 4 through 6 are able to get on the water to learn canoeing skills and also have the chance to fish the lake with STEP volunteers.

"Growing up in Bakersfield, I never had access to anything like this," says Frankhouser. "Being able to provide this kind of experience for kids this age helps teach them an understanding and respect for nature."

At a microscope, Phillips zooms in on a macroinvertebrate as Ryan Warren, an OSP Ranger 2, explains how to focus the lens to view the tiny organism.

"Most people have no idea all of this life is going on around them in the macroscopic world," says Warren. "Hopefully, kids will leave here with a better understanding of nature and the world around them that most people never notice."

The next camp, Intermediate Camp, will take place July 11 through 14, for students entering grades 6 to 8.

The final camp will be July 18 through 22, for students entering grades 8 to 12 with previous watershed experience

Participants travel throughout the Siuslaw watershed learning about plants, animals, water and land.

Camps focus on the restoration work that is being done to keep the watershed healthy.

Advanced camp includes one overnight camping trip.

Each camp is $75 for the whole session and scholarships are available.

Registration packets are available at www.siuslaw.org/camps, or call the SWC office at 541-268-3044.

...need a friend?

Meet Tyler

I see you...with my copper colored cats eyes! Are you looking back at me? Well you should be because I'm a catch! I'm the dashing dark handsome type. I have a kind personality but I am also very quiet and shy. I get along with other kitties and am very bonded with my brother Theo. He's quite handsome as well. He's usually always by my side or not far off. We would love to find a forever home that would take us both! Our shelter offers a better with a buddy deal, did I mention we're a catch?
