I Work at a Public Library

By Gina Sheridan

Book review by Susie Voth

"What makes a public library amazing is that we welcome everyone. Everyone!" (From Gina Sheridan's website, www.IWorkataPublicLibrary.com)

Sheridan is a librarian in St. Louis, Mo. "I Work in a Public Library" is a collection of actual encounters with library patrons recorded exactly as they happened. The chapters are categorized using the Dewey Decimal System.

For example in Chapter 5: "153.733 Listening In," Sheridan recounts this exchange between two parents:

"Parent 1: Do you ever hide books you've read over and over again because you're so sick of them? Parent 2: Oh definitely. When they ask for them, I say the book fairy came to get it. One time they saw one of the books at the library so now they think the librarians are book fairies."

Here's a story that reminds me of Siuslaw Library's Miss Gayle, from Chapter 12: "809.9339 Volumes of Gratitude:"

"Girl: Mommy, do you know what I want to be when I grow up? Mommy: No. What? Girl: I want to be a sparkle librarian. Mommy: What do you mean? Girl: Like the librarian who reads us stories. She's always smiling and wears nice jewelry!"

My favorite encounter is in Chapter 7: "302.343 Bullying." It's too long to reproduce here, so I'll jump to the heart of the exchange. The librarian is putting up a display for Banned Book Week. A young girl asks about it. The librarian explains that some people "didn't like what the books were about and didn't want anyone else to read them, either." The girl responds, "We are learning about bullying at school. It sounds like even libraries get bullied sometimes."

"I Work at a Public Library" is a delightfully entertaining book for people on both sides of the circulation desk.

Be prepared to laugh.

Final Summer Reading Program events

The last 2016 summer reading events are upon us. The adults had their last program the previous week, and Mapleton had its grand finale yesterday. The Florence grand finale will be tomorrow, Thursday, July 28, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with a picnic and lots of fun.

And Saturday will feature a "Family Field Day" at the Siuslaw Middle School.

All ages are welcome!

We thank everyone who has participated this year from the youngest to the oldest, whether they read a lot of books or attended programs.

Thank you for making this another successful summer reading program.

Friends of the Library to meet

The Friends of the Library will be meeting tomorrow, July 28, at 11 a.m., in the library's Conference room, as the Bromley Room will still be in use for summer reading.

All Friends members, potential Friends members and all library supporters are invited to attend.

The Friends support the library in many ways, including fundraising and providing volunteers for library events.

Joining the Friends of the Library is great way to show your support for your local library.

Siuslaw Pioneer Museum begins 'Story Time' Friday

The Siuslaw Pioneer Museum will once again host its popular Story Time on Friday, July 29, at 7 p.m., at the Siuslaw Pioneer Museum, 278 Maple St.

The museum will welcome author Verla Shirley-Chaddick, a former North Fork Siuslaw resident.

Shirley-Chaddick will discuss her recent book, "A Matter of Honor," a tale of lost romance that blends the past and the present to tell the story of a World War II veteran's search for his first love and his return to the European continent to pay homage to the fallen heroes of the liberation of Europe.

The story is based upon the real-life travel notes of Shirley-Chaddick, who accompanied her 75-year-old uncle, George Esgate of Florence, to Belgium, Germany, and France in 1999.

The book traces their travels through the World War II cemeteries of Europe and his search for the Belgian girl he left behind.

In 1945, while serving in Belgium, 20-year-old Private First Class George Esgate fell in love with Renee Durieux, an 18-year-old Belgian girl. When Esgate's service in Belgium ended, he shipped home — but he vowed he would return to Belgium and keep his promise to marry Renee.

It was a promise he could never keep.

In 1999, Esgate, haunted by his broken pledge, wanted to find Renee and tell her that he was sincere in his affection for her and to explain to her in person why he had not been able to return as he promised.

"A Matter of Honor" is the story of his travels through Europe in 1999, accompanied by Shirley-Chaddick, to search for Renee.

The fact that Esgate could not remember how to spell his love's name or the name of the village in which she lived did not deter his mission.

This program will appeal to romantics and historians alike.

Story Time at the Museum is free and open to the public.
