

Last Resort Players announces cast of 'Pirates of Penzance'

FLORENCE — Prepare for high energy on the high seas with Last Resort Players' "Pirates of Penzance," sailing into the Florence Events Center this November.

The creative team that brought "Les Misérables" to local audiences has gathered a stellar cast of new and old faces to bring Gilbert and Sullivan's classic comic opera of a band of pirates, faithful daughters and a very modern major general in a comedy of epic proportions.

"Pirates of Penzance" will star Sandy Vaccaro as the Pirate King, Jim Wellington as the major general, Dana Rodet as the sergeant, Patrick Rowley as Samuel and Sean Abplanalp as Frederic, a young pirate apprentice in love.

Hilary Roach plays Mabel, daughter of the major general, and Abplanalp's real-life best friend.

"I'm thrilled to be acting opposite one of my best friends, Sean," Roach said. "In addition, I am so excited to be working with Leah Goodwin, Laura Merz and this fabulous cast and crew, many of whom I worked with in 'Les Mis.'"

The major general's other daughters include Kate, played by Erin Leonard, Edith, played by Taylor Winona, and Isabel, played by Lilly Cox.

Crystal Farnsworth stars as Ruth, Frederic's nursemaid.

The "Pirates of Penzance" pirate chorus includes Jim Adie, James Bonisteel, Cesar Castillo, David Collins, Butch Goodwin, Paul Guthmuller, Grant Harmond, Danial Keppol, Dorland Neale, Annie Schmidt, Sue Sweatt and Sally Wantz. The women's chorus includes Karin Bigler, Johanna Bonisteel, Shy Coverdale, Alison Cox, Tanya Garrett, Jessalynn Keppol, Karylynn Keppol, Lyndsey Keppol, Erin Leonard, Alizabeth Norton, Joanie Schmidt and Myrna Lee Sullivan.

Last Resort Players will play "Pirates of Penzance" at Florence Events Center, 715 Quince St., the weekends of Nov. 4 to 6 and 11 to 13, with evening and matinee performances. Tickets will soon be available at eventcenter.org.
