ACCIDENTAL ADDICT:
a True Story of Pain and Healing... also Marriage, Real Estate, and Cowboy Dancing

The author’s memoir about her inadvertent addiction to and recovery from doctor-prescribed opioid painkillers and the benzodiazepine Xanax.

Linda Crew is the award-winning author of nine novels. Her readers range in age from children who enjoy the Nekomah Creek books to adults who have appreciated her recent cross-over titles such as Brides of Eden: A True Story Imagined, and A Heart for Any Fate: Westward to Oregon 1845. She and her husband live in her hometown of Corvallis, Oregon, at Wake Robin Farm, where they were married under the oak trees forty-two years ago. When not writing, she enjoys working on their forest properties.

The Shifting Winds

A NOVEL

Pioneer Jennie meets two rivals who vie for her as their nations vie for the disputed land of 1840s Oregon.

*Two nations
One land*

*One woman
Two men*

Portraits left and center taken from antique fashion plates. Image at right used by permission: The First Mountain Man, Andy Thomas, artist. Background shows the top of Willamette Falls, Oregon City.

Fisher will have copies of The Shifting Winds to sell and sign at the Florence Festival of Books, as well as her first book, A Place of Her Own, both books published by Globe Pequot Press/TwoDot imprint. Available at bookstores, Amazon, Barnes & Noble, wherever books are sold. Visit the author at www.janetfishernovels.com.

Two thousand years ago, the Carthaginian general Hannibal Barca brought his army and thirty-four elephants through the Alps intent on destroying Rome, initiating a sixteen-year war as important as any in ancient history. Timon Leonidas, a young Greek, tells the story of the war in three novels through the lens of his own life—a life of love, tragedy, and wondrous discovery.

ZAMA

a novel
by Dan Armstrong

The Eyes of Archimedes Trilogy has all the intrigue and barbarous action of “Game of Thrones,” but the story is accurate history and the characters are real. Author Dan Armstrong takes you back to ancient Rome with such clarity and vision you’ll think you’re there! The reader is not only engaged by a compelling story but also informed about a time in history with many parallels to our own.
