Annual Food Share 'Pounding' returns Nov. 19

The 16th annual Pounding for Florence Food Share, a holiday food drive, continues the Saturday before Thanksgiving thanks to host Cindy Wobbe and event sponsors KCST Coast Radio and Grocery Outlet. This year's event will run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Nov. 19 at Grocery Outlet, 2066 Highway 101.

Wobbe founded the event with Coast Radio's Jon Thompson in 2001 to match donations — for Florence Food Share. Although she stopped sponsoring the event last year, an anonymous donor approached her through Florence Food Share board member Bonnie McDuffee.

"Bonnie said that someone anonymous wanted to continue the Pounding if I was willing to continue to be the face of it," Wobbe said.

For every pound of food that the community raises, the anonymous donor will make an equal contribution in dollars.

"So, a thousand pounds will raise $1,000," she said.

People can donate any item, including fresh ingredients, frozen foods and supplies for a traditional Thanksgiving meal.

"It's very strategic, because there is a huge run on the resources at Food Share that week before Thanksgiving," Wobbe said. "The idea is to really stock the pantry ahead of time."

The staff at Grocery Outlet, led by owner Woody Woodbury, will label many of the Florence Food Share's needed items.

Wobbe said, "The staff makes it possible for people to make a big bang in an affordable way. The whole staff gets involved. They're very on board. It's a team that pulls this off."

She added, "Florence is a small town with a big heart, as I always say."

To donate to the Pounding, go to Grocery Outlet on Saturday, Nov. 19, and make a donation of canned foods, frozen turkeys, holiday treats and other goods. People can even donate cash.
