Hunger hurts families, children, seniors, and disabled persons in our community. This past year, children represented 30% of those needing emergency food boxes in Florence and 36% of those served were seniors. Research has proven that hunger and malnutrition can lead to irreversible health problems later in life, and children who are hungry have difficulty concentrating and learning in school. In a recent Food Share survey, our clients expressed how important this program is to them:

- Keeps us from starving
- It has been a blessing to have this available to me and my family
- We have run out of food usually, and the Food Share feeds us.
- It has made a huge relief to know my family will have something to eat when times are tough.
- Food Share eliminates the need for me to choose between buying prescriptions or eating.
- It helps us eat.
- Puts the kids at ease
- Helped me feed my kids when I couldn't.
- Helped when times are bad.
- I feel I have been treated with respect and dignity.
- We eat more fresh organic produce than before.
- We wouldn't make it through the last week of the month without it.
- I was almost out of food. It helped.
- I had no food whatsoever.
- It put food in my kids! Helped out a lot.
- Helps us survive.
- Saved my daughter and I from not knowing what or when we eat again.
- Food Share eliminates the need for me to choose between paying utility bills or eating.
