Friends of the library promote language learning Jan. 7

The Friends of the Siuslaw Library invite the public to attend a Mango Languages open house, on Saturday, Jan. 7, from 2 to 5 p.m., in the Bromley Room. Refreshments will be provided. This event is free and open to the public.

"We are pleased to announce the library now offers the Mango Languages online language-learning system," said Meg Spencer, Library Director. "To promote this new service, we've partnered with the Friends of the Library to host an Open House to show people how they can learn a language with their library card."

The Mango Languages open house will demonstrate six different language stations, with volunteers at each location to help answer questions. International foods to complement the six selected languages will be offered at each station.

Mango is free with your library card and can be accessed at the library or anywhere there is an internet connection.

Each lesson combines real life situations and audio from native speakers with simple, clear instructions. "We're excited about this event because it's geared for all ages. Students, little ones, and families - this is a great resource for everyone," added Spencer.

Mango offers access to 60 foreign language courses and 17 English courses taught completely in the user's native tongue, as well as specialty mini courses like Pirate and Medical Spanish. Mango also uses foreign films to help users learn.

"Some people need to learn a second language for their work or business; others want to learn for travel or fun. Learning a language with Mango is definitely fun," said Linda Stent, 2017 president of the Friends. "Start off the New Year by learning a new language at your library."

To learn more about Mango, stop by the library or visit www.SiuslawLibrary.org.
