DECADENT EVENING

22 community bakers outdo themselves at CROW's Death by Dessert Feb. 11

It was the best of times — with 22 gourmet, hand-made dessert creations, there was no other way to be at Death by Dessert on Feb. 22. Children's Repertory of Oregon Workshops (CROW) transformed its annual Valentine's Day fundraiser to include community partnerships with local bakers, restaurateurs and businesses. "I'd love to brag a bit about the huge turn out — over 175 people — and also report on the awesome silent auction — over 120 great items — great band and delicious desserts by our 22 fabulous bakers. Plus, we'd love to thank Three Rivers Casino Resort again," said CROW Artistic Director Melanie Heard. Of the desserts, first place went to Shorewood Senior Living for raspberry patchwork hearts; second place went to Claudia Siebert for "Death by Chocolate;" and third place went to Amy Tregoning for her Oreo truffles. There were also games, photos and more, staffed by volunteers and CROW actors in the upcoming "The Addams Family Musical." Some actors even took to the dance floor to show the attendees the way to move to Buck and A Quarter Band's swinging tunes. Guest soloists also performed. "At CROW, we sing songs and do dances, which makes life way better," Heard said. For more information on CROW, go to CROWkids.com.

We are proud to provide solutions to our local business owners.

Oregon Pacific Bank announces 2016 earnings

Oregon Pacific Bancorp and its wholly-owned subsidiary Oregon Pacific Bank (OPB) are reporting a consolidated Net Income of $1,135,082 for the period ending Dec. 31, 2016. The results reflect a 59.3 percent increase over the period ending Dec. 31, 2015. Earnings per share increased from $0.17 to $0.26; a 52.9 percent improvement.

Total assets increased $27.3 million, or 13.4 percent. Net loans and deposits also experienced strong growth due to the banks' expansion into the Eugene market with its Professional Banking Office, and expected growth from its more established branches in Roseburg, Coos Bay and Florence.

"We are very pleased with our growth and improvement in operational efficiency and profitability," said Ron Green, president and chief executive officer, "and we are working towards providing increased value for our shareholders. Our staff is very committed to delivering the highest level of client service and industry leading expertise. "The opening of our Professional Banking Office in downtown Eugene has allowed us to diversify our product offering and clientele." Green said OPB's Eugene team is led by long-time Eugene banker Jeff Gusinow. The focus, according to Green, has been on establishing relationships with the medical services, legal, accounting and Real Estate investment industries. "Jeff is joined by Vice President Linda Arnold, who leads our Trust Services department in Eugene," said Green. "It is very unique and special for a smaller, local bank to provide full service fiduciary, wealth management and insurance services to compliment the traditional banking model. "The bank has also established the commitment to meeting the banking needs of non-profit agencies in all markets we serve." OPB has been headquartered in Lane County for more than 37 years. Its corporate office is located in Florence and it has full-service banking branches in Eugene, Roseburg, Coos Bay and Florence.
