

City Club to host Chamber's Hannigan

On Friday, May 5, the City Club of Florence will host a presentation by Bettina Hannigan, Chamber Executive Director, on the annual Rhododendron Festival.

Bettina retired as a small business consultant with a history of small business ownership.

Partnering with the city as its marketing agency.

The Chamber's purpose is to market and develop commerce and tourism to local business and community.

The City Club meeting will be held at the club house of the Ocean Dunes Golf Links, 3345 Munsel Lake Rd.

Lunch and beverages will be available for purchase at 11 a.m.

The presentation will begin at noon to continue until 1 p.m., followed by a question and answer period after the presentation.

City Club's monthly meetings are open to the public.

Lin-Su featured artist at OPB during month of May Oregon Pacific Bank is pleased to exhibit watercolor paintings by local artist Lin-Su during the month of May.

As Lin-Su says, "Truth be told, I'm pretty sure I grew up with crayons in both hands...No doubt, they were also in each pocket."

Sewing, beading, and quilting took a backseat the first time Lin-Su picked up a watercolor brush, and she never looked back. She has enjoyed taking classes from watercolor artist Susan

Weathers. "Water color is a wonderful medium, with a lot of stretch."

Born with the first name of

MARK BRENNAN/SIUSLAW NEWS

Local watercolor artist Lin-Su at recent 'Florence Fest'. The artist also works in beads, textiles, oil and mixed media.

Lin-Su is a member of Florence Regional Arts Alliance (FRAA), and her paintings can be viewed there. She also works in other mediums and enjoys her first artistic forays into oil, beads and textiles.

She has also exhibited at such venues as Silver Lining, the Siuslaw and Coos Bay libraries, and the Brown Hen. Recently, her paintings were juried in for the "Florence Fest" - Wine, Jazz, and Art event at the Florence Events Center.

Linda, she was called Lin. Her middle name is Sue. "And there you have it, thus born a painter's name...Lin-Su."

PTA seeks letter writers to 'Thank a Teacher'

Florence Community PTA celebrates teacher, members and all educators in the local area and knows that the community does as well.

During Teacher Appreciation Week, May 8-12, FCPTA invites the community to help us "thank a teacher."

Since 1984, National PTA has designated one week in May as a special time to honor the men and women who lend their passion and skills to educating children.

This year, help the FCPTA show local educators how important they are by writing a note, sending a letter, drawing a picture or writing a postcard and dropping it in the mail to:

FCPTA Thank A Teacher, P.O. Box 1140, Florence, OR 97439.

Collection boxes for in-person drop offs will also be available in all three Siuslaw School offices starting May 1.

"Teachers are the foundation that our schools are built on, and in celebration of Teacher Appreciation Week, we'd like to shower them with tangible thank you notes," said Tiffany Holdahl, FCPTA President.

"Whether you are a student, parent, alum or simply someone who recognizes the value of our local educators and all that they do for our community, we hope to see a note from you."

General thank you letters are welcome, or submissions can be specifically addressed to a certain teacher or school.

Make sure to note the intended recipient on the envelope.

PEO invites community to 'Breakfast at Tiffany's'

This year, DY's fashion show and brunch will be held at Driftwood Shores at 11:30 a.m., Saturday, April 29.

In addition to the latest fashions from local merchants, Chapter DY's major fundraiser will include a Silent Auction and Door Prizes.

P.E.O., a philanthropic educational organization, provides assistance through scholarships, loans and grant awards to assist women in furthering their education.

Numerous local women have benefitted from these funds. Tickets are $30 and can be reserved by calling Terri Pennington at 541-999-2400.
