

Swinging for the Babe Ruth World Series

COURTESY PHOTO

From left: Jared Northrop and Caleb Hennessee, both of Florence, could advance to the Babe Ruth World Series later this month.

Florence residents Caleb Hennessee and Jared Northrop are local Babe Ruth baseball players on the South Coast All-Stars team. After winning the state championship two weeks ago, the team advanced to the Babe Ruth Regional Championship in Kelso, Wash., last weekend for a chance to reach the Babe Ruth World Series in Tennessee later this month. The regionals included teams from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Canada. The team lost 2-0 in the semi-finals.

Run from 1B

for kids — hands-on experiences that introduces them to the area's ecosystem, wildlife and the importance of conservation.

The run lasted three years before trickling off after Sundstrom went to college.

A little over a year ago, while accepting the "Spirit" award on behalf of his son, Johnny Sundstrom challenged the board to start the run again.

"The board thought it was a great idea to get that tradition going again," said Tom Burke of the SWC.

Before long, Burke and a handful of volunteers began digging into old permits issued a decade earlier in an effort to retrace the route Sundstrom established and keep it as close to the original as they could.

Unfortunately, they discovered that road closures and restrictions wouldn't allow for the same route, but the council kept it as close as possible.

Though there have been some changes to the original route, it starts in the same place as it did — at the Mapleton High School track, where Shiloh spent a lot of time as both a high school athlete for the Sailors as well as an assistant track coach for his father, Johnny.

Just as when the run was first established 11 years ago, all money raised goes to support

SWC programs and the watershed that meant so much to Sundstrom.

In addition to the 5K run, there is also a 3K fun run/walk.

Last year's revival of the race drew 74 participants, with those finishing in first place in each division receiving a handmade commemorative wooden medal.

This year, organizers of the Salmon Run hope to increase that number to 100 or more.

Cost is $20 for the 3K or $25 for the 5K event for those who preregister anytime before tomorrow, Aug. 3. Cost includes a commemorative T-shirt.

Registration fees will increase by $5 for both races starting Friday, Aug. 4.

Check-in is 8:30 a.m., with both races beginning at 9 a.m.

To preregister, visit www.eclecticedgeracing.com and click on the "Salmon Run 5K" link.

"It means a lot to see so many people turn out for this event," Johnny Sundstrom said at the start of last year's run. "Shiloh believed in giving back, and having this race up and running again in his memory and raising money for conservation education and projects is a wonderful way of continuing his legacy."

Cool from 1B

at Pumpkin Ridge.

The resort at San Diego Country Estates is nestled peacefully in the foothills near Ramona, Calif. Golfers will enjoy the chance to play whenever they choose, and there is also tennis, horseback riding and the nearby wild animal park, where visitors can get up close and personal with giraffes and elephants.

And of course the Southern California wine country is just adjacent.

Pumpkin Ridge features two championship golf courses situated on pristine farmland only 20 miles west of Portland. Lush stands of towering trees frame undulating fairways and manicured greens, creating a stunning tapestry for respite, relaxation and adventure.

This year's Cool at the Coast is nearly sold out. According to co-chairs Craig Sanders and Deb Lamb, only one team space remains.

"We've developed a reputation for good golf and great fun," Lamb said. "That's why people are signing up earlier than ever this year."

Golfers who have not yet registered should call 541-997-3232, or visit www.coolatthecoast.com to download the registration form.
