

CROW to hold 'Kids' fundraising car wash

The Children's Repertory of Oregon Workshops (CROW), a nonprofit youth theater organization, is looking for more help in finishing the CROW Center for the Performing Arts.

The incomplete area marks about 2/3 of the unique performing arts educational space, and is comprised of a soon to be built dressing room for boys and girls, workshop for scenic artistry, green room and cast member restroom.

About $20,000 in upgrades are still needed to finalize the plumbing, electrical, drywall, flooring and paint.

CROW is dedicated to providing high-caliber youth arts opportunities and experiences that reach all ages. Through classes, camps, workshops, an annual Haunted House, live theatrical presentations on the mainstage of the Florence Events Center and an annual community holiday performance, CROW has proven that the arts matter.

To help fund the renovation, CROW will be hosting a fundraiser car wash on Saturday, Sept. 23, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the CROW Center for the Performing Arts, located at 3120 Highway 101.

"You've been driving oh so far, so let a CROW kid wash your car," said CROW Artistic Director Melanie Heard. "Your donation of any size at this car wash makes a dramatic difference in the lives of our local children. Show up, get your car washed, and show your care."

Historic Cemeteries seek for help to clean up

The Oregon Commission on Historic Cemeteries is partnering with SOLVE to bring cemetery cleanups into the statewide Beach & Riverside Cleanup, presented by the Oregon Lottery.

Many of these cemeteries were established in the 1800s and are in need of helping hands to remove invasive weeds and woody debris, clean headstones and assist in other tasks before the onset of winter.

State law established the seven-member Oregon Commission on Historic Cemeteries to maintain a listing of all historic cemeteries and gravesites in Oregon; promote public education on the significance of historic cemeteries; and obtain financial and technical assistance for restoring, improving and maintaining their appearances.

All cleanups will take place on Saturday, Sept. 23, unless noted otherwise.

To see a complete list of cemeteries and sign up, visit the SOLVE website at www.solveoregon.org/historic-cemetery-cleanups.

LCC opens registration for continuing ed. classes

Registration for the Lane Community College Florence Center's Continuing Education programming is now open.

Classes begin Sept. 26. New courses for the fall term include a watercolor painting series, Viking knit jewelry making, basic quilting, genealogy basics, hula dance, handcraft cards, understanding intuition and chair yoga.

This term, there is a special opportunity for Oregon licensed massage therapists to earn up to 16 Continuing Education hours through an introductory course that explores energy medicine.

The program's Outward Ventures — educational and cultural day trips — include tours of the coastal bridges with Judy Fleagle, a behind-the-tank tour of the Oregon Coast Aquarium, a trip to experience the musical "Singin' in the Rain," and a visit south to Stillwagon Distillery and the holiday lights at Shore Acres.

To register, visit lanecce.edu/ ce.
