The universe is but one great city, full of beloved ones, divine and human by nature, endeared to one another. —Epictetus

If you really believe in the brotherhood of man, and you want to come into its fold, you've got to let everyone else in, too. —Oscar Hammerstein

Help thy brother's boat across, and lo! thine own has reached the shore. —Hindu Proverb

We are members of one great body, planted by nature in a mutual love and fitted for a social life. We must consider that we were born for the good of the whole. —Seneca

Charity begins at home but shouldn't end there. —Scottish Proverb

The future is called "perhaps," which is the only possible thing to call the future. And the only important thing is not to allow that to scare you. —Tennessee Williams

To the outside world we all grow old. But not to brothers and sisters. We know each other as we always were. We know each other's hearts. We live outside the touch of time. —Clara Ortega

I found I could say things with color and shapes that I couldn't say any other way—things I had no words for. —Georgia O'Keeffe
