Paper craft and scrapping class comes to Florence

For all who love to be creative, there's a new monthly paper craft and scrap group starting up. Card making, scrapping, journaling, gift boxes, albums and more will be covered on Friday, April 6, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, located at 2705 Munsel Lake Road. Participants are encouraged to bring a project they are working on and/or participate in an instructed session. Participants should bring supplies such as stamps, dies, cutter, scissors, glue and of course your fabulous paper. This group will continue to meet the first Friday of each month. For more information, contact Betty Johnson at 541-997-4258.

Candidate makes early campaign stop

Teri Grier (far right), candidate for Oregon House District 9, made a brief stop at a new organization in Old Town, Patriot Place, which will share information and observations on Oregon and national political issues. Patriot Place will have a grand opening celebration in mid-April. Grier is hoping to win the opportunity in the Republican primary this May, to unseat Democrat Caddy McKeown in the Nov. 6 election cycle.

U.S. COAST GUARD LOOKS FOR STUDY PARTICIPANTS

The U.S. Coast Guard reminds boaters that there is still time to participate in a survey related to a study of aids to navigation in U.S. Pacific waters including the Oregon and Washington coasts. The survey is open to all categories of mariners including commercial, passenger, recreational sail and power boaters. Survey topics include international requirements, environmental concerns, user capabilities, available technology and available resources. Those interested can participate in the study by completing the survey at www.surveymonkey.com/r/PacSeacoast

WAMS. The study, which concludes Saturday, March 31, was announced late last year by Coast Guard Headquarters, which can be found at content.govdelivery.com/accounts/USDHSCG/bulletins/1c9cc09, and is part of the Coast Guard's Future Navigation initiative, a multi-year effort to analyze, optimize and modernize the navigation systems that safely guide millions of mariners and trillions of dollars' worth of trade into U.S. ports. The Waterways Analysis and Management System study is scheduled to review the short-range Aids to Navigation system that covers American waterways from the Canadian border to the Mexican border and around Alaska, Hawaii and the Marianas Islands. Managed by the Coast Guard Office of Navigation Systems and maintained by Coast Guard buoy tenders and ATON teams around the nation, aids to navigation help mariners to determine their position, chart a safe course and steer clear of hazards. For further information, contact Lt. j.g. Chad Coppin at 206-220-7283 or Chad.R.Coppin@uscg.mil.

City council announces new public comment rules

At the March 19 Florence City Council meeting, the city council adopted updated city council rules and procedures. These updates included amendments to the public comment process for council meetings. The city encourages all interested persons to attend council meetings and express their views verbally, or to submit written communications to the city council to express their opinions for or against an agenda item, or on any topic of relevance to the City of Florence. The city council allows for public comments on items not listed on the agenda at the beginning of each regular meeting. In addition, the city council allows for public comment on each action item on the agenda. Beginning Monday, April 16, all parties interested in speaking at a city council meeting must complete a "speaker's card" at least five minutes before the meeting is scheduled to begin. These changes will allow the council to better anticipate the number of speakers and to maximize time for speakers of varying topics. To speak at a council meeting, please fill out a "speaker's card" available on the City of Florence website at www.ci.florence.or.us/council/request-address-city-council-speakers-card, or available at each city council regular session at least five minutes before the meeting is scheduled to begin. In general, the Florence City Council meets on the first and third Mondays of each month.

For more information about the Florence City Council, including the full 2018 city council calendar, visit the City of Florence website at www.ci.florence.or.us or contact City Recorder Kelli Weese at kelli.weese@ci.florence.or.us or via phone at 541-997-3737. To find out more about the city council meeting protocol and other topics of relevance to the city council, visit the council FAQs site at www.ci.florence.or.us/council/city-council-faqs-0.
