Book Review "Goodnight, L. A."

By Kent Hartman
Author Kent Hartman is back with another insider look at the rock 'n' roll industry in Los Angeles. "Goodnight, L.A.: the Rise and Fall of Classic Rock — the Untold Story From Inside the Legendary Recording Studios," is a follow-up to his earlier best-seller "The Wrecking Crew: The Inside Story of Rock and Roll's Best Kept Secret."

Before disco, punk, hair metal, rap and eventually grunge took it all away, the music scene in Los Angeles was dominated by rock 'n' roll. If a group wanted to hit it big, L.A. was the place to be.

But in addition to the bands themselves finding their footing, their albums also needed some guidance. That came from a group of dedicated producers and engineers working in a cadre of often dilapidated-looking buildings that contained some of the greatest recording studios the music industry has ever known.

Within the windowless walls of these well-hidden studios, legends-to-be such as Foreigner, Fleetwood Mac, Pat Benatar, Boston, the Eagles, the Grateful Dead, Chicago, Linda Ronstadt, Santana, Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers, Loggins and Messina, REO Speedwagon, and dozens more secretly created their album masterpieces: "Double Vision," "Rumours," "Hotel California," "Terrapin Station," "Damn the Torpedoes" and "Hi Infidelity."

However, the truth of what went on during these recording sessions has always remained elusive. But not anymore.

Longtime music-business insider Kent Hartman has filled "Goodnight, L.A." with troves of never-before-told stories about the most prolific and important period and place in rock 'n' roll history.

With music producer Keith Olsen and guitarist Wendy Wachtel as guides to the journey and informed by new, in-depth interviews with classic rock artists, famed record producers and many others, "Goodnight, L.A." reveals what went into the making of some of the best music of the past forty years. Readers will hear how some of their favorite albums and bands came to be — and ultimately how fame, fortune, excess and a shift in listener demand brought it all tumbling down.

Libraries Rock!

Libraries Rock! is the theme of this year's summer reading program for children, teens and adults, and the excitement is building! All kinds of wonderful programs are planned and a lot of books will be read.

Look for additional information in Tidings and at the library. Registration will start June 1.

Free Audiobooks for Teens (and Others)

As a reminder, SYNC is a free summer audiobook program through OverDrive. Aimed towards teens ages 13+, the books are downloadable by anyone and may be enjoyed by a wide range of ages. From now to July 25, get two free downloads per week, which are yours to keep.

Visit www.audiobooks.sync.com or text "syncya" to 25827 to get new title alerts and learn more. The books cover a wide range of genres and topics. Examples of the available books include "The Great War" (nonfiction) by David Almond, "A Study in Charlotte" (mystery) by Brittany Cavallaro, "Love and First Sight" (fiction) by Josh Sundquist, "Macbeth" (play) by William Shakespeare and many more.

Each pair of books are available for download for one week's time before the next selections become available.

If you have questions, check with library staff.
