Hints For Homeowners

What You Need To Know About Your Ductwork

(NAPSA)—Your health and your wealth. Those are the two major reasons you should have your HVAC system inspected by a reputable, certified professional. Consider this:

Your Health
Your heating and cooling system is essentially the lungs of your home. The system takes air in and "breathes" air out. Through normal living in a house, a great deal of contaminants and air pollutants—dander, dust, chemicals—get pulled into the HVAC system and recirculated an average of six times a day. Over time, this causes a buildup of contaminants in the ductwork. While dirty ducts don't necessarily mean unhealthy air, they can contribute to health issues, especially for people with respiratory problems, autoimmune disorders or allergies.

Your Wealth
According to the U.S. Department of Energy, 25 to 40 percent of the energy used for heating or cooling a home is wasted. Contaminants in the heating and cooling system cause it to work harder and shorten its life. Even though there are filters, the system still gets dirty. When an HVAC system is clean, it doesn't have to work as hard to maintain the temperature you desire. As a result, you save energy and money.

What You Can Do
A qualified contractor can meet your duct cleaning needs. Here are seven things to ask for:

1. Insurance and licenses.
2. An assessment and explanation of the service to be provided.
3. Information on which components will be cleaned as part of the service: air ducts (supply and return), coils, drains, registers, grilles and so on.
4. A limit on the amount of dust, dirt and debris released into your home during the cleaning.
5. Both agitation and vacuum collection while cleaning.
6. Information about any chemicals used as part of the cleaning, including a safety data sheet for the products used.
7. Proof of National Air Duct Cleaners Association (NADCA) membership and certification. NADCA members follow the industry standard for HVAC system cleaning and must:
 - Have at least one NADCA-certified Air Systems Cleaning Specialist (ASCS) on staff.
 - Maintain general liability insurance.

HOW MUCH DOES AIR DUCT CLEANING COST?
An average-size home typically ranges in cost from $450-$1,000

FACTORS THAT AFFECT COST AND TIME ESTIMATES:

- the type of ductwork
- system size
- system accessibility
- number of crew members required
- level of contamination
- environmental factors

#BreathingClean

• Agree to clean according to ACR, the NADCA standard.
• Comply with NADCA's code of ethics.
• All ASCS-certified individuals must acquire continuing education credits to maintain certification each year.
It's this dedication to quality and a higher standard of performance that can mean peace of mind for you.

Health And Well-Being

Don't Let Nausea Spoil Your Life

(NAPSA)—If you ever get sick to your stomach due to pregnancy, chemotherapy, surgery, riding in a car, a boat, a plane or an amusement park ride, or even virtual reality gaming, you may be relieved to learn two things:

First, you're not alone. Nausea affects millions of people every day. Scientists are not sure why, but according to a study published in the journal Aviation, Space, and Environmental Medicine, there is a significant genetic contribution that may be responsible for as much as 57 percent of the people who suffer from motion sickness.

What To Do
Next, whatever the cause, you can feel better with the help of these four anti-nausea tips:

- Eat light, plain food, such as dry bread and crackers.
- Avoid anything too sweet or greasy.
- Sip certain liquids if you can—ginger ale, ginger tea, mint tea and plain water may all help.
- Get a fast-acting, drug-

You can enjoy travel, boating and other activities without nausea thanks to ingenious scientists.

free, nausea relief band that works without the side effects of medications such as drowsiness and constipation.

How It Works
Featuring a clinically proven technology, it's a specially designed wrist-band that uses patented scientific knowledge, endorsed by health care professionals, and that emits accurately programmed pulses with highly specific waveforms, frequency and intensity. These pulses signal the median nerve at the P6 location on the underside of the wrist. This stimulation of the nerves, known as "neuromodulation," uses the body's natural neural pathways to send messages to the part of the brain that controls nausea, retching and vomiting. The signals have a rebalancing effect, normalizing nerve messages from the brain to the stomach and quickly reducing symptoms of nausea, retching and vomiting.

The unique band is easy to use and comfortable to wear, even over time, and the attractive design rivals the most fashionable wearables. Called Reliefband 2.0, it features a latex-free band and hypoallergenic surgical steel contacts for efficient transmission of pulses. The intuitive display has 10 intensity settings that can be moved up and down at the touch of a button and a battery that lasts about 18 hours on a full charge and recharges quickly. This adjustable band, designed to control nausea, helps put you back in control so you can live your life in full motion.
