

Western Lane Community Foundation Continuing Education Scholarships awarded

Western Lane Community Foundation (WLCF) has announced that its 4th annual Continuing Education Scholarships program for 2018 included 10 scholarships totaling $2,500.

These scholarships are awarded annually and are designed for students who use a permanent home address within the Florence/Mapleton school districts.

Applicants this year included second- and third-year college students, students entering post graduate programs, as well as adults returning to higher education, trade schools or special arts programs, for career changes.

While academic achievement is one criteria used in determining recipients, other qualifying characteristics include financial need, outside activities, work history, volunteerism and more.

WLCF presented the following individuals with scholarships:

- Desiree Winn-Renner received the Arlis Ulman Scholarship in the amount of $3,000.

The scholarship is designated for a student majoring in a LCC nursing program or taking credits for admission to the Nursing Program.

Winn-Renner is a single mom raising her two children while working at Peace Harbor Hospital and attending both LCC and OCCC in Newport with a GPA of 3.3

- Jarmila "Jarka" Popovicova was selected to receive the Don Tiegen Scholarship in the amount of $1,500, which will assist her as she plans to attend LCC and for a career change in physical therapy.

Popovicova currently attends LCC with a GPA of 4.11, works at the Siuslaw Public Library, and teaches yoga at LCC and at Shorewood Independent Living to seniors.

The following students are receiving $1,000 each from Beachcomber Pub as a result of its annual Beachcomber Community Dan Barnum Memorial Scholarship fundraiser:

- Ann Carpenter is attending the National University of Health Sciences, Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine Program. Carpenter works for Peace Health as a registered nurse care coordinator, is an Army and Navy veteran, Girl Scout troop leader and a single mom with three children.

- Annalee Bour is attending Lane Community College in its pre-nursing program and her last GPA was 3.3.

She is a CNA at Regency, has worked as a medical technician at Spruce Point, and is a single mom.

This year, a new scholarship of $1,000, the Linda Lauck Scholarship, is being offered:

- Britnee Church is attending LCC and majoring in Forestry. Church works at LCC and also is an intern for the Central Coast Ranger District. She is busy attending college and is a single mom raising three children and a niece in foster care.

The following five students received $1,000 scholarships from WLCF:

- Lyudmyla Jensen-Norman is attending LCC in the nursing program and her last GPA was 3.74.

She is a CNA2 at Peace Harbor Hospital, has worked as a CNA at Regency, and is married with two school-age children.

- Elizabeth Wartnik majors in musical composition and vocals at George Fox University earning a GPA of 3.88 while also doing work study displays for the university library.

- Holly Hicks attends George Fox University while majoring in global business and maintains a 3.66 GPA while also working on campus in the university's institutional technology department.

- Jonathan Griffes attends Corban University, majors in pastoral ministries and maintains a 3.51 GPA while also working on campus in dining and food services.

- Kathleen Dalbeck recently attended LCC and is enrolled in the Fisheries and Wildlife Management Program at Oregon State University. Dalbeck is an educational aide at Siuslaw School District and assists in S.T.E.A.M. activities. She lives here in Florence with her husband and four children.

Christian Church to host annual VBC

The Florence Christian Church, located at Second and Ivy streets, is inviting children ages 4 years old through fifth grade, to "Shipwrecked: Vacation Bible School."

The week-long event will take place Aug. 6 to 10, from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

Kids will participate in memorable Bible adventures, games and hands-on science-related fun.

They will also be challenged to collect pocket change to help support the local Backpack for Kids program in Florence.

To register, call the church office at 54-997-2961 or visit www.florence-church.com and click on the VBS link.
