the match at 2-2, forcing a fifth set — eventually holding out for a 15-7 victory over Siuslaw. Senior Makenzie York led Siuslaw in scoring with 16 kills, 9 blocks, 7 digs and 7 aces. Defensively, freshman libero Hayden Muller was key to thwarting Marist's continual attacks at the net, digging up 25 attempted kills by the Spartans. In addition, sophomore Lindsey Long had 8 digs and junior Mia Collins had 10 digs, along with 8 kills. Thursday night, Siuslaw was back at home on Glenn Butler Court to host No. 7-ranked Marshfield (12-2, 2-1) for what became a hard-fought three-game sweep of the Vikings. In the opening set, Siuslaw kept things close, taking the lead several times and moving ahead as much as 19-15 before the Pirates came back to tie the game at 22-22, then narrowly win it, 25-23. The second set began much the same as the first, with the Vikings taking a small lead following a triple-shot of aces from York for a 7-5 advantage. And also like the first game, Marshfield rallied, tying the game at 9-9 on three consecutive kills that brought Siuslaw's momentum to a stop. Despite a time out for the Vikings, Siuslaw was only able to score twice more in the set before Marshfield claimed the win, 25-11. Rather than slowing down, the Vikings powered up for game three, quickly moving into a 6-1 lead on kills from York and Collins. Though the Pirates were able to score twice, Siuslaw shut them down with a pair of aces from senior Falon Borgnino and a tip-kill from Collins. Up 15-7, it seemed Siuslaw was on its way to potentially forcing a fourth set. But Marshfield had other ideas, rallying again to tie the game at 17-17. The game went on to be tied three more times, at 22-22, 23-23 and 24-24 after a crucial kill by Collins. But an error by Siuslaw put Marshfield one point away from the win, which it secured with an ace to the back line, 26-24. The loss puts Siuslaw at 0-3 in league play and 4-4 overall heading into this Tuesday's game at Elmira, which is also looking for its first Sky-Em win. Thursday, Siuslaw will host No. 18-ranked Junction City (1-2, 6-5), beginning at 6:30 p.m.

penalty kick. Moments earlier, freshman forward Casey Adams had taken a hard knock while attempting to score from the penalty box. Leech was sent in to kick for Adams, placing the kick into the left side of the net to tie the game at 1-1. "Once the team felt the rush of adrenaline from scoring a goal, they really put their all into it," said Campbell. Siuslaw's defense went into high gear, dominating the Sutherlin offense for the remaining 8 minutes of play and holding the Bulldogs scoreless to end the match in a tie. Campbell said she and Tomaro were pleased with the team's debut and are excited to get back on the field for competition Oct. 1 at North Bend. "Although we didn't win, it felt like a victory for the team.

The players are excited to work toward the next contest," said Campbell. Though the Siuslaw team is technically an Oregon School Activities Association (OSAA) boys JV team, rules allow female players to compete on the team as well. Because schedules for OSAA-sanctioned contest are made at least a year in advance, Siuslaw will compete in non-league JV games through this and probably next fall, with the potential of joining regular league schedule in 2020. This season's Viking roster includes:

- Seniors:
 - 4 — Zoe Leech at midfield and forward
 - 2 — Kaeli Ramos at midfield
 - 5 — Hannah Freudenthal at defense
- Juniors:
 - 20 & 23 — Caleb Hennessee at goalkeeper and defense

Fishing from 1B

Fall Chinook fishing on the Alsea river/bay opened Aug. 1, a few fish are being caught but overall the fishing has been slow. Concentrate your efforts low in the estuary and close to the ocean to catch the fish moving in and out on the tides. Expect numbers of fall Chinook entering the bays and estuaries to increase later in the month and into September. Best techniques include trolling herring/spinners and bobber fishing with bait. Sea-run cutthroat will begin entering the lower river later this month and into the fall. These fish are very aggressive, respond well to flies and lures, and can be up to 20-inches long. SALMON RIVER: Cutthroat trout, fall Chinook. Fall Chinook fishing on the Fall Chinook fishing on the Siletz river/bay opened Aug. 1, a few fish are being caught but it has been slow. Expect numbers of fall Chinook entering the bays and estuaries to increase later in the month and into September. Best techniques include trolling herring/spinners and bobber fishing with bait. Note: Salmon fishing in the Siletz river is closed above the marker sign approximately 1,200 feet above Ojalla bridge until Oct. 7. Summer steelhead are in the river. Fishing has begun to slow down as stream flows decrease and water temperatures increase in the gorge. Early mornings or late evenings provide the best opportunity to catch these fish. The fishing will improve when we get some cooler weather or a little bit of rain to "stir" things up a bit.

Casting spinners, drifting bait or using a bobber and jig can be effective. Sea-run cutthroat will begin entering the lower river later this month and into the fall. These fish are very aggressive, respond well to flies and lures, and can be up to 20-inches long. Trout fishing is open in streams and river. Note: The 3.5-mile bridge (aka Steel Bridge) in the Siletz gorge is open to motorized vehicles but is only open to public vehicles on the weekend. Anglers can walk/bike in the road during the weekdays. If anglers do walk in they can park at the one-mile gate and start from there. WILSON RIVER: Steelhead, trout. Summer steelhead are present, but it looks like numbers are down a little this year. There are steelhead sporadically throughout the system. Low clear water and warm water temperatures can make fishing for summer steelhead challenging, but there can be some good action. Warm water temperatures can stress fish and increase hooking mortality, so anglers are encouraged to avoid catch-and-release fishing.
