Applications open for Master Recycler program

Lane County Waste Management Division is offering a free course this winter that provides comprehensive training on local solid waste issues. Hear from local experts, tour local facilities and learn why things are (or are not) recyclable. The Waste Management Division hosts this course to help Lane County residents and businesses reduce, reuse, recycle and rethink waste habits.

Winter classes will be held on Tuesdays from 5:30. to 8:30 p.m., Jan. 8 through March 5, 2019, at Lane Community College's Florence Center, 3149 Oak St.

Applications are available at www.lanecounty.org/masterrecyclers or by calling 541-682-2059. Completed applications may be submitted by fax, email or regular mail.

Retirees, folks new to the area, teachers, green job seekers, parents, high school and college students studying sustainability, business owners and employees tasked with reducing solid waste in the workplace all find common purpose in the Master Recycler community.

"The Master Recycler program provides valuable and necessary waste reduction education to our community, generating inspired and engaged program graduates who provide outreach and examples of practical sustainability during our events, at our schools and in our neighborhoods," said Deveron Musgrave, Waste Prevention and Green Building Program Coordinator at City of Eugene, who took the program in 2014. "Our local Master Recyclers not only inspire those around them to waste less — they encourage their friends and neighbors to do more."

The Master Recycler training course includes 35 hours of classroom instruction: nine consecutive Tuesday evening classes, a Saturday compost demonstration and two Saturday multi-site field trips to area solid waste and recycling sites. Instructors are local experts in solid waste from business, government and non-profit sectors.

The course is free for those who volunteer 30 hours to educate and assist their communities in the year following the training.

Grand Marshal

Staff Sargent Tim Sapp (second from left) was named Grand Marshal for 2018 Vets Day Parade set for Sunday, Nov. 11, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in Old Town. The announcement was a surprise that had been planned for four months and kept secret from Sapp. The all-volunteer committee had a pizza feast from sponsor RestoBar, and surprised Sapp with a commemorative plaque — the banner shown is a mini version of one that will be carried in the Parade in front of the 1960s authentic Vietnam Jeep he will be riding in.

KXCR to host special Halloween programming

On Oct. 30 and 31, the KXCR 90.7 FM will offer a live broadcast of musical melodies and memories from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. as the station opens its doors to meet and greet KXCR listeners.

Come in for treats and spend time with the station's volunteer staff. D.J.s will award prizes for the best costume on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

"We're eager to show folks what community radio can do," said KXCR's Stu Henderson. "We want to hear what our listeners enjoy most about our programming. Learn what's happening at our community supported station as we move toward streaming programs on the web and have a broader connection with our community radio station listeners."

The public is invited to bring the family to meet KXCR volunteers on Halloween afternoon and into the.

Oregon Coast Military Museum announces new board members

The Oregon Coast Military Museum (OCMM) recently announce the election of two new members to the Board of Directors. Ann Dowdy and Shelly Medeiros were both elected with unanimous votes at the October board meeting.

Executive Director Cal Applebee described the candidates "Each of these individuals bring some phenomenal back ground and experience that is going to really enhance our board make up and help us to continue to grow as an institution. I am really excited to see them join us and look forward to working with each of them."

Dowdy, a native Oregonian, has an undergraduate degree in Non-profit Management and Communications, and extensive experience in the non-profit field, including museums. She currently sits on the board of the Oregon Museums Association, which the Oregon Coast Military Museum is a member of. In addition, her family enjoys extensive military heritage, including husband, Terry, who is Retired USCG Chief Warrant Officer. They recently retired in Florence.

Medeiros has an extensive accounting and financial management background including financial controller and general manager of an online distribution company. Already involved in other volunteer work in the community, she and her husband, Alan, retired to Florence in 2015, and both Alan and daughter Jolene, who also sits on the board, are United States Air Force veterans.

OCMM President Gene Wobbe added "We are really pleased with the caliber of each of these new board members and look forward to their contributions to our mission."
