Yachats to host 18th annual Celtic Music Festival

The Yachats Celtic Music Festival opens for its 18th year Friday, Nov. 9, at the Yachats Commons and other venues around town. The festival will continue through the weekend, ending on Sunday Nov. 11, and will include concerts, dances, stories, talks, whisky tastings, workshops, vendors, jam sessions, the sunset "Piper on the Point" and other events during the day and into the evening each day.

The early Friday noon opening is planned again, creating an opportunity to enjoy live music and have a Celtic-inspired snack or beverage before the afternoon concerts begin. All ages are welcome at most events.

The festival's success is based on local support through sponsorships, publicity, hundreds of donated volunteer hours, and Celtic music lovers who attend the shows.

The YCMF is produced by Polly Plumb Productions, a Yachats based non-profit. www.pollyplumb.org.

On the roster this year is Kevin Carr, Coig, Lisa Lynne and Aryeh Frankfurter, Warbelow Range with Caitlin Warbelow, Open the Door for Three, and The Founding.

Kate Horsley, author of a number of books including "Confessions of a Pagan Nun," is a scheduled special guest speaker.

Caller for the Ceili dance is Elisa Chandler.

There will be daily public jam sessions, plus special evening sessions for festival performers to jam together. A second whisky tasting is scheduled for Sunday at 2 p.m.
