and what areas they need to work on.

"It will be a chance to see what works and what doesn't, what we have gotten good at and what we still need to work on," said Smith, who tempered any results with a caveat: "It's not a typical game situation, so we'll need to keep that in mind as we prepare for the next game."

Mapleton senior Erin Michael and sophomore Briena Jensen had solid performances for the Lady Sailors, with 7 points from Michael — including a 3-pointer — and six points from Jensen, along with 4 points from sophomore Emily Stevens.

Mapleton also got scoring from freshmen Eve Spradling (2)n and one freethrow each from freshmen Jahala Blake and Opal Burruss.

Of the 11 points scored in the first half, 6 of Mapleton's points came from freethrow shooting.

Across the court, Siuslaw scored in double digits in all four quarters, led off the bench by 6-foot junior Mia Collins with a game-high 20 points.

Collins was one of 10 Lady Vikings to score in the game, including 10 points each from sophomores Lindsey Long and Savannah Morris.

Siuslaw had the chance to rotate all 13 of its players onto the court, with Collins draining 6 points in the first period to spark a 20-4 run by the end of the period.

Along with scoring from Collins, Long and Morris, Siuslaw also got buckets from senior Zoe Leech (8), junior Nina Aaron (6), sophomore Brea Blankenship (6), senior Alyssa Richards (4), sophomore Gracie Freudenthal (4), senior Lillian Wenham (4) and sophomore Lizbeth Garcia-Galvin (3).

Tuesday, the Lady Viks will be at Newport (5:30 p.m.) and the Lady Sailors will host Willamette Valley Christian (7 p.m.)

freshman Braydon Thornton. Siuslaw never relinquished the lead after that point, although Mapleton would get within 4 points early in the second quarter.

After rebounds from Viking sophomore Liam McClellan and senior Dylan Wynn, as 7-2 Siuslaw lead prompted a time-out by the Sailors.

Coming back to the hardwood, another 3-pointer from Thornton and a steal from junior Caleb Hennessee that led to a pair of freethrows, the Vikings extended their lead to 10.

In the final two minutes, Mapleton rallied with a long ball from outside the arc by the Sailors' lone senior Evan Moso, followed by rebound from junior Nathan Roane.

The Sailors' momentum continued into the top of the second period, with Neece scoring and drawing the foul to put Mapleton within two baskets, 10-14.

But Siuslaw platooned in four fresh sets of legs and went on a 11-0 run that included a third 3-pointer from Thornton and six points from sophomore Jakob Foskett.

Moso scored from inside the paint with 2:16 remaining in the period for the Sailors' first basket since the top of the quarter. Junior Nate Neece added to Mapleton's side of the scoreboard on a spin-move inside the key, then drained a 3-pointer in the final six seconds of the half.

But Thornton sank his fourth long ball of the half in the final second to help Siuslaw secure a 35-17 lead at the break.

Bryadon eventually finished the night with a game-high 17 points, along with double-digit scoring from Foskett (14) and Wynn (10), en route to a 67-33 Siuslaw win.

McLellan and Hennessee finished the night with 7 points each, along with 5 points from freshman Brody Terry, 4 points from freshman Avery Hart and 3 points from freshman Rhys Fleming.

For Mapleton, Moso led scoring with 12 points, including three 3-pointers. JJ Neece and Nate Neece had 7 points each, Roane had 3 points and sophomore Jeremy bender had 1 point for the Sailors.

Tuesday, Mapleton will host Willamette Valley Christian, starting at 5:30 p.m.

Siuslaw will tip off at 7 p.m. against the Cubs at Newport High School.

SALMON RIVER: Fall Chinook, winter steelhead

Fall Chinook fishing on the Salmon River has been slow this year. Due to lower than expected returns and conservation concerns, Chinook fishing above the Salmon River hatchery is closed for the remainder of the 2018 season. Below the deadline the bag limit for fall Chinook is reduced to one adult Chinook per day and a limit of 3 from Nov. 1 through the remainder of the season.

All wild coho must be released during the 2018 fall salmon season.

Winter steelhead fishing is coming soon and opens on Dec. 1. Time to dust off the gear and get things ready for the upcoming season.

Trout fishing closed on Nov. 1.

SILETZ RIVER: Summer steelhead, fall Chinook, winter steelhead

Fall Chinook fishing continues to be slow on the Siletz River. Due to lower than expected returns and conservation concerns, the Siletz River is now closed to Chinook fishing above the marker located approximately 1200 ft. upstream of the Ojalla boat ramp. Below the deadline the bag limit for fall Chinook is reduced to one adult Chinook per day and a limit of 3 from Nov. 1 through the remainder of the season.

All wild coho must be released during the 2018 fall salmon season.

Summer steelhead are still being caught in the gorge area and the fish are still in good condition. The rise in river levels with the recent rain moved the summer steelhead throughout the basin and fishing is still good. Early mornings or late evenings are not as critical with the cooler temperatures and overcast weather so fishing can be good throughout the day. Casting spinners, drifting bait or using a bobber and jig can be effective.

Steelhead fishing is open in the gorge area year-round but salmon fish-ing/retention is closed upstream of the marker approximately 1200 ft. above the Ojalla boat ramp for the remainder of the 2018 fall salmon season.

Winter steelhead will start to show up in the Siletz in December, time to get out the steelhead gear and prepare for the upcoming season.

Trout fishing closed Nov. 1.

The 3.5 mile bridge (aka Steel Bridge) in the Siletz gorge is open to motorized vehicles, but is only open to public vehicles on the weekend. Anglers can walk/bike in the road during the weekdays. If anglers do walk in they can park at the one-mile gate and start from there.

WILSON RIVER: Steelhead Hatchery summer steelhead are available throughout the system and there are some fish getting caught. And even though they've been in the river all summer, many of these fish are still in good shape. Drift fishing, casting lures, float fishing beads or jigs, and flies are all effective techniques.

Due to a poor return of Chinook salmon, and conservation concerns about meeting spawning escapement goals, emergency regulation changes took effect for coastal rivers in the NW Zone on Nov. 1, 2018. As a result the Wilson River is closed to fall Chinook fishing upstream of the yellow ODFW sign posted near Makinster Road at River Mile 1.1 (in tidewater). Below the deadline the bag limit for fall Chinook is reduced to one adult Chinook per day and a limit of 3 from Nov. 1 through the remainder of the season.

Trout fishing in streams closed on Oct. 31.

YAQUINA RIVER: Fall Chinook

Due to lower than expected returns and conservation concerns, Fall Chinook fish-ing on the Yaquina remains closed upstream of the Cannon Quarry boat ramp near the town of Toledo. In addition, the Big Elk is closed for the remainder of the 2018 Chinook season. Below the deadline the bag limit for fall Chinook is reduced to one adult Chinook per day and a limit of 3 from Nov. 1 through the remainder of the season.

Fall Chinook fishing is very slow in the area still open.

All wild coho must be released during the 2018 fall salmon season.

Trout fishing closed Nov. 1.

Effective through Dec. 31: The daily bag limit for adult Chinook in all coastal rivers and bays in the NW Zone is one. Seasonal maximum bag limits remain in effect, including the North Coast Wild Chinook Aggregate Bag Limit described on page 27 of the 2018 Oregon Sport Fishing Regulations, but no more than 3 adult Chinook may be retained during the period from Nov. 1 through Dec. 31.
