Fishing from 1B

Summer steelhead are available throughout the system, but reports are that fishing has been slow and it appears to be a below average run. These fish can be challenging to catch, but are great fighters and good table fair for those who are successful.

The Wilson offers plenty of bank access, especially on the upper river. The river is low and clear, so fishing light tackle and early starts are keys to success in this fishery. Bobber fishing with jigs/bait/ beads, casting lures, and drift fishing are great techniques to catch a summer steelhead.

Trout fishing should be fair to good throughout the river. This time of year there can be some good opportunity for sea-run cutthroat in the upper tidewater and lower River. These are aggressive fish and fun fighters on light gear.

Spring Chinook season closed on July 31. Fall Chinook salmon season legally opened on Aug. 1, but it will be quite some time before we would expect to see any in the river.

Anglers are reminded that this year's bag limit for wild Chinook is 1 per day and 5 per year from the North coast aggregate (Necanicum River to Salmon River).

COOS RIVER BASIN: Trout, marine perch species, salmon

Fishing for rockfish inside the bay has been good near the submerged rock piles. Fishing is typically best near slacktide. A jig with a twister tail can be a great bait for catching rock-fish.

Temporary fall Chinook salmon regulations started Aug. 1. Salmon anglers in Coos Bay will only be able to harvest 1 wild Chinook per day and 5 wild Chinook for the season in aggregate from all waters from Coos Basin, Coquille Basin, Sixes River and Elk River. The South Fork Coos River will be closed to salmon fishing upstream of Myrtle Tree Boat Ramp, and the Millicoma River will be closed to salmon fishing upstream of Rooke Higgins Boat Ramp.

Marine perch species are available around rocks, riprap, pilings, and docks at this time of year.

COQUILLE RIVER BASIN: Striped bass,

Striped bass fishing is slowing down some but is still good in the Coquille River.

QUESTION _____
What is diabetic eye disease?

ANSWER _____

There are a group of diseases that affect those with diabetes that can lead to vision loss or even blindness.

- Diabetic Retinopathy (damage to the blood vessels in the retina)
- Cataract (cloudy lens of the eye)
- Glaucoma (the fluid pressure inside the eye increases. Peripheral vision loss is often associated with increased eye pressure)

Since the symptoms can often times go unnoticed, it is important to have a comprehensive eye exam for diagnosis.
