Fishing from 1B

Due to low forecasted fall Chinook returns, this year's daily bag limit has been reduced to 1 wild Chinook per day and 5 per year for the mid-coast aggregate (Siletz River to Siuslaw River).

No wild coho retention for the 2019 season.

Trout fishing in streams is open until Oct. 31. Late summer and fall are typically good times to target sea-run cutthroat in the Siuslaw River. Check the regulations for open areas and gear restrictions.

SILTCOOS & TAHKENITCH LAKES: Warmwater species, cutthroat and rainbow trout Warmwater fishing is slowing down on Siltcoos and Tahkenitch and is almost done for the season. Many warmwater fish will go into their winter hibernating behavior as the water temperatures cool down for the winter.

Siltcoos also gets stocked rainbow trout, check the stocking schedule for numbers and dates of stockings. Fishing has been slow so far but last week's rainstorms should move fish up the rivers and into the lake systems.

*Reminder: Retention of wild Coho is still allowed for the 2019 season, 1 wild adult Coho per day (as well as 1 jack per day) and 5 adult Coho for the year in aggregate with Siltcoos, Tahkenitch, and Tenmile Lakes.

ALSEA RIVER: Fall Chinook, cutthroat trout

Fall Chinook fishing on the Alsea River picked up with the recent rains as many fished moved up into the river. Last week's rain brought the river up and moved many of the fish in tidewater up into the river heading for the spawning grounds. The river is now dropping and clearing which will slow the upstream movement. Fish are spread out from the estuary up to the salmon deadline located at River Edge boat landing. Both bank and boat anglers will have good conditions for a few more days this week in the river.

Due to low forecasted fall Chinook returns, this year's daily bag limit has been reduced to 1 wild Chinook per day and 5 per year for the mid-coast aggregate (Siletz River to Siuslaw River).

No wild coho retention for the 2019 season.

Trout fishing in streams is open until Oct. 31. Late summer and fall are typically good times to fish for sea-run cutthroat. Check regulations for open areas and gear restrictions.

SALMON RIVER: Fall Chinook, cutthroat trout

Fall Chinook fishing has been fair on the Salmon River. The September rains moved some fish up into the hatchery but the low clear conditions have slowed this movement and fish are still holding in the tidewater waiting for the next big rain.

Due to low forecasted fall Chinook returns, this year's daily bag limit has been reduced to 1 wild Chinook per day and 5 per year for the north coast aggregate (Necanicum River to Salmon River).

No wild coho retention for the 2019 season.

Trout fishing is open in rivers and streams.
