

On The Record

School District food distribution route changes

Beginning Monday, April 27, Siuslaw School District food service delivery routes will be condensed from 10 to 5. The food service deliveries will continue to serve all locations as before, so the service times at each location will change a bit. Each bus will go to 5-6 locations, rather than 2-3. This will allow the district to conserve transportation fuel, maintenance and driver time, while serving all sites and maintaining both a safe working environment for staff and avoiding congregations of people at delivery locations. Below is the updated routes with times and locations of food delivery in the area.

FOOD DELIVERY LOCATIONS & Walk Up / Pick Up Sites – Effective April 27th

To be more efficient and still continue to reach all delivery sites, bus delivery routes are being combined. If you are picking up food deliveries from a bus location, the only difference will be the time of day. Deliveries will be Monday, Wednesday & Friday at the same locations, just slightly different times.

LCC hosting bond measure town halls

The Lane Community College Board of Education approved a bond oversight committee at its April 15 meeting. The committee will include up to 11 members including three to five residents at-large, three members from the construction industry, and three members from the college including one faculty member, one classified staff and one student. The board also set a series of virtual town halls about the bond, including Thursday, April 30, at 6 p.m.; and Saturday, May 9, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The public can submit questions for the town halls to bond@lanec.edu and join by going online at lanec.edu/bond and clicking the "Register now" link.

Why stimulus payments could be delayed

When Congress passed the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act three weeks ago, the bill included some much-needed economic support. For millions of Americans that is coming in the form of Economic Impact Payments of up to $1,200 for qualified individuals and additional dollars for households with children. The first waves of these payments are being issued to people who have direct deposit information on file with the Internal Revenue Service or Social Security Administration. Other qualified Americans will receive hard copy checks over the next several months. While almost $150 billion has already landed in the hands of working families, not all eligible consumers have received their funds. The delay is caused by an overwhelming volume of payments for the U.S. Treasury to distribute, and the effective dates the Treasury set on the payments. For example, while the Treasury announced the first wave of payments would be deposited into accounts April 13, the effective date set was April 15. The Treasury processed another wave of payments Friday, but the funding won't likely post to consumers' accounts this Mon-day, because the effective date is not until April 22. The confusion between when payments are issued, vs. when the funds are actually posted to consumers' accounts is frustrating. But the good news is, the payments are coming. Consumers expecting Economic Impact Payments should verify the funds are indeed posted to their accounts before they attempt to spend the money. While financial institutions cannot change the government's process, credit unions have other services that may help their members who are impacted by COVID-19. If your finances are taking a hit, talk to your credit union about options such as low-to-no in-terest emergency loans, modifications to your existing loans to make payments more affordable, and options to skip payments for a period of months on consumer, auto, and mortgage loans. Your credit union wants to come out of this with you, stronger than ever. The Northwest Credit Union Association, nwcua.org/, is the trade association representing more than 175 not-for-profit, cooperative credit unions in Idaho, Oregon, and Washington, and their 7.3 million consumer members.
