New OHA modeling predicts 'considerable rise' in COVID-19 cases

New modeling of the COVID-19 virus shows that COVID-19 is spreading more rapidly in Oregon, according to the latest model released Thursday by the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) and the Institute for Disease Modeling.

The model, which is based on data through June 18, offers three projections — optimistic, moderate and pessimistic — predicting that daily case levels could rise as much as 20 percentage points.

The modeling assumes that hospitalizations from COVID-19 remain stable and testing remains at its present level of approximately 4,000 a day.

The optimistic scenario with those assumptions suggests the previous modeling increase of June 11 was the result of higher testing and that case counts would remain stable at about 180 per day over the next month. This is the least likely scenario to occur because it assumes diagnosis of all new cases. Presently, about one-third of new infections cannot be traced to a known source.

The moderate scenario suggests the rise in cases in the last modeling report was due to increased transmission and expanded testing — and that daily infections of COVID-19 could rise over the next month to more than 900 per day, with daily hospitalizations rising from 8 to 27.

The most pessimistic scenario suggests the rise in cases in the last modeling report was due entirely to increased transmission and not expanded testing — and that infections could rise to more than 4,800, and hospitalizations could increase to 82 per day.

“We know that COVID-19 is in our communities,” said Dean Sidelinger, MD, Oregon state health officer. “This latest model provides us with a sobering reminder that we all need to guard against continued spread, especially as we continue to reopen and the weather gets warmer.”

He continued, “Think hard about your choice of activities, especially as we get close to the Fourth of July holiday. Ask yourself: how can I reduce my risk and the risk I might pose to people around me?”

Do what you can to suppress the virus:

- Stay 6 feet away from other people.
- Wear a mask. Avoid large gatherings, and if you are in a group setting — like a holiday barbecue — stay outside, keep your distance and use a face covering when you're not eating.

Wash your hands frequently and stay home if you're sick.

OHA uses this modeling for data analysis and planning purposes and releases it on a bi-weekly basis.

Harry Edward Maxwell, Jr. "Bud"

Born March 26, 1926 Seattle, WA
Died April 7, 2020 Newberg, OR

Proceeded by father Harry Edward Maxwell, Sr., mother Mamie Jensen Maxwell, sister Beverly Maxwell Hansen, and stepson Jay Hansen. Married to Carleene Helsel (deceased) 1950 – 1969.

Survivors include his wife, partner, and love of his life for 47 years, Phyllis Maxwell of Sherwood, OR, sons James Maxwell and wife Laura, Bristol, TN, Michael Maxwell and wife Patty of Woodburn, OR, stepdaughters Debbie Hansen Walch and husband Doug of Bainbridge Island, WA, and Barbara Hansen Winger and husband Pat, of Lakeside, OR, seven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren and one great-great grandchild.

Bud was a devoted, caring and loving Husband. He was a proud and loving Father and Grandfather. He was a proud American Patriot having served in the United States Navy in World War II, stationed in Pearl Harbor, HI and later in Shanghai, China. He was a life-long Mason and Shriner. Bud was a founding board member for Southwestern Oregon Community College, in Coos Bay, OR. He was a Kiwanian and recognized as a Paul Harris Fellow, the highest honor bestowed by Rotary International.

He and Phyllis traveled extensively, visiting numerous foreign countries in the South Pacific, Europe, the Mediterranean, Central America and most of the United States. His favorite, by far was Hawaii where he visited numerous times with Phyllis and his children.

He lived an extraordinary life bringing a wonderful light into every room he entered. He was honest, authentic and original. Bud was mischievous and at times a bit cantankerous. He was always fun-loving and his epic sense of humor will be remembered forever by everyone whose life he touched.

To the very end, he was sharper and wiser than many people half his age. He was technically savvy and a prolific reader of both books and newspapers, in print and online. He loved books about history, biographies, the South Pacific, and particularly those about World War II.

He ultimately succumbed to the effects of COVID-19 – he was a warrior and a hero to the very end. His maternal grandmother and aunt were victims of the flu pandemic of 1918.

A celebration of life take will be held later this year. Interment will take place at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific (Punch Bowl Cemetery) Honolulu, Hawaii.
