COURTESY PHOTOS

Past participants of CROW's Summer Camps have learned the art of stagecraft through games, art projects, songs, dance and more. the camp's primary focus."

In addition to summer camps, CROW will offer a small selection of classes, which will be held weekday afternoons after the camps. Dates and times can be found on the "Classes" tab at crowkids.com. Offerings will include Jazz/Hip-Hop Combo, Beginning Youth Tap, Beginning Irish Dance, Adult/Teen Tap and even an Adult Acting class series. Limited financial-need based scholarships are available for classes and camps. The summer camp enrollment, afternoon class enrollment, and scholarships application deadline is June 5.

Parents should be careful to read the terms of enrollment carefully and must submit a deposit or their child's space is not guaranteed. "Camps are already nearly half full, so if you're thinking of signing up, don't wait," Heard said.

All programming will be held at the CROW Center for the Performing Arts, 3120 Highway 101 in Florence, and all current COVID-19 safety protocols will be followed. "We are so grateful to be able to re-open our doors. We are starting small, carefully following all COVID-19 safety procedures, and hope to be able to continue to provide arts opportunities for the community throughout fall and winter," Heard said.

For more information, send an email to crowtheatrekids@yahoo.com or visit crowkids.com.

Sponsor a Child for Camp or Classes at CROW

Interested in sponsoring a child to attend summer camp or classes this year? Non-profit youth theatre organization, CROW, is seeking 2021 summer camp scholarship donors in the amount of $125 (one week scholarship) and $250 (two-week scholarship), and also summer class scholarships in the amount of $64 to cover one child's eight-week class enrollment fee. Donors will be recognized on Facebook, and will receive two free tickets to the 2021 Scare-CROW Haunted Maze (pending ability to offer the maze under autumn COVID restrictions). "Coming back from COVID is going to be hard on so many families. Our sponsors truly make a big difference, and provide valuable funds that directly impact local children in the arts," Heard said. "Thank you for considering this important request."

If you'd like to be a sponsor, please send your check to: CROW, PO Box 184, Florence, OR 97439 or contact Heard at: crowtheatrekids@yahoo.com. Please include a note with your donation for how you'd like your funds to be used. All donors will receive a 501(c)3 tax deduction letter/receipt by mail.
