Baha'is continue Spiritual Conversations via Zoom

James Heintz and Suzanne Mann-Heintz, Baha'is of Florence, will offer the second Zoom Spiritual Conversation on Monday evening to discuss the topic of "Choice."

The goal of the gathering is to bring together Friends from diverse spiritual paths to discuss, not debate, spiritual concepts with a spirit of exploration and unity.

Due to the virus and other circumstances, the gatherings ended, to the disappointment of James, Suzanne and many of the participants. During the months of isolation, the Baha'i community has developed new tools of communication, one being the Zoom video meeting platform.

Monday, Aug. 16, between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m., the Baha'is of Florence Zoom line will be open. Interested people can call Suzanne at 541-590-0779 and she will email the Zoom address.

All are invited to participate.

FIRE PREVENTION GUIDE | AT WORK

Protecting Your Business

As a business owner, you want your focus to be on generating revenue, not building codes and regulations. You recognize, however, that the safety of your employees and the integrity of your building are critical to running a successful company.

There are more than 3,000 fires in office properties per year, according to the National Fire Protection Association. These fires lead to expensive property loss, extended recovery time and even employee death or injury. When it comes to fire prevention, it's up to you to make sure your business is safe and protected.

STAY IN COMPLIANCE

Keep your facilities up to code with fire regulations. Use a local professional to inspect your electrical equipment regularly, keeping an eye out for damaged or fraying cords or circuits that are overloaded. The easiest way to stay in code is to have a strong understanding of compliance. Study your city and state building regulations to keep abreast of any changing specifications.

INSTALL SPRINKLER SYSTEM

Water is a fire's worst enemy. By installing a high-quality sprinkler system throughout your business, you can be confident in stopping a fire before it gets out of hand. Use a local provider to ensure proper installation and regular maintenance. Make sure the contractor understands building codes and regulations to avoid any violations down the road. Don't forget to alert your insurance company when you finish the installation, as this can help lower your property insurance premiums.

FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

Make sure that your office building is equipped with a quality fire alarm system and smoke detectors. This is key to keeping your employees safe and alerting your local fire department if a fire breaks out. Also keep plenty of fire extinguishers on hand. Make sure that your employees know where they are located in case a fire pops up.

CLEAR EXITS

Your business should have emergency lighting and signage that shows people where to exit the building. All exits should be clearly marked.

Work with your local regulators to make sure you're up to code and properly protecting your employees from harm's way.
