Florence Veterans of Foreign Wars Color Guard presented the flag ceremony.

Clawson was the master of ceremonies and she entertained the crowd during the musical breaks. She has been a popular entertainer as well as a restaurant owner in this area for many years, just recently announcing the closure of the family restaurant Clawson's Wheelhouse.

Clawson received a warm response from the 200 or so people in attendance during her performance and throughout the day.

at the festival, which offered everything from homemade soap to visits farm animals to hand crafted floral displays and children's clothing. There were people of all ages and the family friendly nature of the festival was apparent by the large number of young people in attendance. There was also lots of food available.

winning first place in the Taster's Choice division," Sautner said. Oregon State University Extension Services had a large display table at the event to provide information to prospective future students and to advise individuals with questions regarding their animals and livestock.

"Thank you, also, to Gary McDaniel and the Rhody Cruisers and everybody else that brought out their beautiful cars to share with us," Sautner said.

Local classic car clubs included the Oregon Coast Hot Rods and the Cascade Corvette Club, which had dozens of colorful automobiles on display. Visitors could wander through the rows of brightly painted vehicles while listening to performances from Sydney Crasper and The Johnny Kallas Band.

Sautner is planning to present an Autumn Fall Festival next year, but she is also planning to hold a Halloween event this month and, later this year, a winter holiday gathering on Saturday, Dec. 4, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with Santa and his live Reindeer during the Mapleton Christmas Festival.

"Somebody's Daughter: A Memoir"

by Ashley C. Ford

Through poverty, adolescence and a fraught relationship with her mother, Ashley Ford wishes she could turn to her father for hope and encouragement. There are just a few problems: he's in prison, and she doesn't know what he did to end up there.

She doesn't know how to deal with the incessant worries that keep her up at night or how to handle the changes in her body that draw unwanted attention from men. In her search for unconditional love, Ashley begins dating a boy her mother hates. When the relationship turns sour, he assaults her. Still reeling from the rape, which she keeps secret from her family, Ashley desperately searches for meaning in the chaos.

Then, her grandmother reveals the truth about her father's incarceration ... and Ashley's entire world is turned upside down.

"Somebody's Daughter" steps into the world of growing up a poor, Black girl in Indiana with a family fragmented by incarceration and explores how isolating and complex such a childhood can be.

As Ashley battles her body and her environment, she embarks on a powerful journey to find the threads between who she is and what she was born into, and the complicated familial love that often binds them.
