Tribal Council votes to give emergency funds

On Sept. 209, the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Indians Tribal Council voted unanimously to approve Emergency COVID-19 Assistance to all qualified current full- and part-time employees of CTCLUSI Tribal Government and all Tribal Enterprises. This includes Three Rivers Casino Florence and Coos Bay, Ocean Dunes Golf Links and Blue Earth.

The Tribal Council has determined it is imperative to provide general welfare assistance on an emergency basis to eligible citizens experiencing financial needs resulting from this national pandemic incurred between March 1, 2020, and Oct. 1, 2021, including, but not limited to, increased costs of living expenses such as food, housing, utilities, medical and other anticipated and unanticipated living expenses and income losses.

Tribal Council Chair Debbie Bossley said, "COVID-19 has affected our Tribal community much longer than imagined. Tribal Council recognizes that it has had some devastating effects on many of us. We are honored to have the resources to offer assistance to staff and their families during this difficult time."

This is to provide emergency economic assistance to eligible citizens, who have experienced financial hardships during the COVID-19 pandemic, utilizing CARES Act funding in the amount of $1,000 for each approved eligible applicant.

The Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Indians is a federally recognized Tribe made up of three tribes (four Bands): two bands of Coos Tribes: Hanis Coos (Coos Proper), Miluk Coos; Lower Umpqua Tribe; and Siuslaw Tribe. The Tribes trace their ancestry back to the aboriginal inhabitants of the South-Central coast of Oregon. The Tribes employ more than 600 employees through its government and enterprise functions.

People invited to submit art

Backstreet Gallery, 1421 Bay St. in Florence, invites anyone to join the gallery's community challenge, "Wood Yew Knot?" People are especially encouraged to include some wood — real or a facsimile.

Branch out! Draw, Paint, sculpt, collage, carve, photo or use any medium in your art piece. Two or three dimensional, it's your choice.

Woodcarver Dan Heffron and jewelry designer Shelley Medeiros will jury the work and award ribbons to the winners. People can view the work of these two outstanding jurists and gallery owners at Heffy's Gallery on Highway 101 or Artifacts on Bay Street.

Artists can pick up their application at Backstreet Gallery, Heffy's Gallery, Artifacts or online at www.backstreetgallery.org under events.

Applications are due by Oct. 18. The artwork should be delivered to the gallery between Oct. 27 and 29.

Backstreet Gallery's "Wood Yew Knot?" Community Challenge show opens Nov. 2 and closes Dec. 4, a perfect time for Holiday shoppers.

Chamber conducts community survey

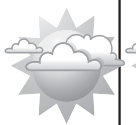

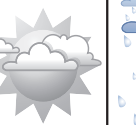

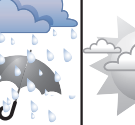

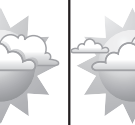

The Florence Area Chamber of Commerce wants to know what you think Florence needs from a business and services perspective.

"We are sending out a survey to people and businesses in the area using mail, social media, and email. We want to hear from every sector of our community," said Chamber President/CEO Bettina Hannigan.

The survey is live at https://bit.ly/FACCSurvey2021 and can be found on the Blog tab at FlorenceChamber.com. As a special incentive, the chamber is doing a drawing from all the completed surveys to give away four $50 gift certificates.

The chamber wants to hear from retired people, educators, businesspeople, medical workers, stay-at-home parents, schoolkids, nonprofits, civic clubs, "and everyone and anyone who has a stake at any level in town," Hannigan added.

In Florence, the chamber is a powerful convener of leadership, catalyst for commerce, and a champion for the community. The chamber advocates for businesses with local, state, and national elected officials to promote solutions for businesses; provides exclusive referrals to members from those who ask which businesses to buy from; hosts free seminars on business operations, security, leadership training, and marketing; and connects members through networking events.
