Twin Lakes’ Teen Giving Tree full of Wishes

The ninth annual Teen Giving Tree is now in progress. Sponsored by Twin Lakes Grocery & Liquor, this event has 50 local teenagers’ wish lists available for the community to view and shop for.

“This is an important and memorable event for any youth that has participated before,” said Vicki Ambrosio, founder of the yearly event. “To be lavished in Christmas Presents is amazing for this age of recipient. I enjoy watching them open their gifts with excitement.”

Twin Lakes is asking the community to stop out and look over the tree full of wishes and perhaps pick a teen to buy for.

“You do not need to buy everything on the list, simply what you can afford or perhaps that one item you think they should really have,” Ambrosio said.

Community members can help fulfill local teens’ Christmas wishes at Twin Lakes Store.

This December will have a drive-up event due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The teens will be able to take the gifts home and open them, or put them under the tree.

“This year we are doing our first Hoody Drive. Hoodies are the number one asked for gift from these teens, so we want to make sure every teen gets a hoody this year,” Ambrosio added.

Christmas gifts and hoodies need to be dropped off at Twin Lakes Store by Dec. 15th, wrapped or unwrapped.

“The earlier the better,” Ambrosio said.

The distribution event will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 21, also at Twin Lakes Store.

For more information, visit www.twinlakes.store or call 541-997-3021 during business hours.

Twin Lakes is located three miles north of Florence on Highway 101. It is open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day.

Last chance to visit OCMM’s Festival of Trees

Oregon Coast Military Museum is wrapping up its 2021 Festival of Trees this week. The event features a variety of thematically designed Christmas trees decorated by local artists and organizations.

As part of the festival, the trees will be available for viewing at the museum, 2145 Kingwood St., from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. through Thursday, Dec. 2. Viewing of the trees is free of charge, though donations are welcomed and appreciated.

Through Friday, Dec. 3, the donated and specially decorated trees will be available for online auction. The community can participate by visiting www.fot.afrogs.org. Any individual wishing to register or bid in person may visit the bidding desk at the museum during event hours and a member of the museum staff will gladly assist them.

The auction will close on the evening of Dec. 3 during the Festival of Trees Gala, which will be broadcast via livestream beginning at 6 p.m.

Funds raised through the event will go to support the museum’s continued operations and mission to honor those who have served.

For more information or to volunteer, contact OCMM Operations Manager Geoffrey Cannon at 541-902-5160 or by email at ocmmflorence@gmail.com.

Nativity Exhibit, Bazaar helps people find ‘reason for season’

Get in the holiday spirit at the First Baptist Church of Florence’s Christmas Bazaar and Nativity Exhibit, featuring Christmas crafts from local Florence artists.

The public is invited to this free event on Friday, Dec. 3, from 3 to 7 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 4, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the church, 1935 25th Ave. on the corner of 25th and Spruce streets.

This is an event for the entire family.

The Nativity Exhibit will help attendees come away from the hustle and bustle of the holidays more focused on the reason for the season.

People can plan to enjoy seeing nativity scenes, crèches and other art forms depicting the birth of Christ.

All of the Nativity sets are on loan from local members of the community. These are cherished pieces to them that have become part of their family traditions.
