Viewfinders ‘fall’
into perfection

New agent joins Coldwell Banker Coast Real Estate

Officials at Coldwell Banker Coast Real Estate announced the addition of Ryan Denning as a new real estate broker.

“I’ve known Ryan since he was little and I am excited to have him join our team,” stated owner Andy Johnson. “He grew up in Florence, served the military for four years and now he is home to embark on his new adventure. Ryan is young, energetic and eager to put in the work and diligence for a long and fruitful real estate career.”

Growing up in the household of a real estate appraiser and now real estate broker, Denning learned that it is more important to serve others over self and to prioritize a client in every decision that may present itself along the way.

Ryan and his wife Jonnah met abroad while serving as Rotary Youth Exchange students in Spain. They now live in town with their golden retriever.

When not in the office, Denning enjoys traveling and being outdoors, as well as playing and watching sports of any kind.

Coldwell Banker Coast Real Estate is one of Florence’s longest established local businesses, originating in 1956. It offers a global referral, marketing and online network among 3,000 offices worldwide and a dominant presence in the local market.

For more information, contact Coldwell Banker at 541-997-7777, 100 Highway 101 in Florence and www.coldwellbanker.com.
