THE ASTORIAN.
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1885.

COMMERCIAL STATISTICS.

The water front of Astoria, largely occupied with the wharves of countless vessels, is one of the largest and finest in the world.

The river front, though notably free of coves and bulges, is a picturesque landmark of the Pacific.

The water front is developed with the same energy and
skill as the river front.

The
water front is favored by the fact that it is
not subject to violent tides.

The
water front is due to the fact that it
is not subject to violent
tides.

The
water front is favored by the fact that it is
not
subject to
violent

{Inconsistent text, unable to extract meaningful content.}