

Tri-Weekly Astorian

ASTORIA, OREGON:
D. C. IRELAND, Editor.
THURSDAY, August 7, 1873

Female mediums in Cincinnati are fined $200 for dealing in spirits without an excise license.

Rhode Island wants to extend her area by carting dirt into the ocean, but don't know where to get the dirt.

Henry M. Smith, managing editor of the Chicago Tribune, originated the Chicago Jubilee and made $90,000 out of it.

Phoebe Cousins, of St. Louis, attaches to her tax bill "Paid under protest." It makes no difference to the collector.

A Western paper says: "A short, thick, striped, star-spangled-banner sort of a bug is beginning to look after the tomato crop."

Cincinnati wants to change her big policemen for men who can chase a thief three blocks without having to sit down four times to rest.

One morning recently a Chicago woman borrowed $200 of her husband, and in the afternoon fluttered under his nose a divorce that had cost precisely that amount.

Senator Morton and Governor Hendricks, of Indiana, are considered by Harper's Weekly to be the most thoroughly representative men of the two parties.

Three virtuous Chicago roughs attacked an old man whom they found fishing on Sunday, and after knocking him down and jumping on him, asked him if his Bible didn't tell him better than to fish on Sundays.

The London lady whom Joaquin Miller is to marry is a Miss Hardy, the novelist, and daughter of Sir Thomas D. Hardy, long employed in the office of the master of rolls, and himself a learned historiographer.

An Illinois paper doesn't complain because ex-Gov. Palmer persists in speaking so often on the railroad question, but because "every time he speaks he has a new theory on the subject."

Gen. W. Krzyzanowski arrived on the last steamer to relieve Col. Vernon as special agent of the Treasury department in this region. Col. Vernon will be sent to Baltimore and Philadelphia districts we understand, with headquarters at Baltimore.

The movement inaugurated by the Italian residents of New York against the Italian child traffic has caused a general exodus of the padroni and their little serfs. The New York papers inform us that hundreds of these are leaving for the Western cities.

With a light on Sand Island, (after the new light is completed below Fort Stevens), there need be no longer any reason why vessels, especially steamers, should remain outside on approaching the bar after night, and we are glad to hear that there is a prospect for erecting a light there, and also one on Scarborough hill, at an early day.

The experiment of planting pine seed on the waste lands of Eastham, Massachusetts, is reported to be a complete success. A thousand acres of land are now covered with thrifty pines from seed sown. The land thus covered, but for this protection, would have been a waste tract of shifting sand. As a consequence, too, game has increased, and quail, plover and other birds are plentiful, while foxes are by no means scarce.

The river Clyde, in Scotland, on which Glasgow and its great shipyards are situated, has been made safely navigable almost entirely by artificial means. On a section of that river, nor more than thirty miles in length, the trustees for the improvement of the river Clyde have during a few years past expended nearly thirty-six millions of dollars, and such has been its effect in fostering the business interests of Glasgow and its environs that the people there think the money has been well spent.

The Ladies' Fair.

Last evening closed the fair in this city given by the ladies for the benefit of the Catholic church. Taken as a whole it has been one of the most successfully managed affairs, the most pleasant in its social aspect, and profitable in results, of any heretofore held in Astoria. All who have had a hand in it have acquitted themselves with credit, especially Mrs. Arrigoni, under whose genial supervision the whole thing was conducted, assisted by Mrs. D. Graham, Mrs. Woods, Mrs. A. S. Mercer, Miss Belle Welch, Miss Jennie Clerno, Miss Fannie and Emily Arrigoni, and others (volunteers), including Mrs. C. H. Woodard, Mrs. Fred. Currier, Miss Upton, Miss Logan, etc., deserve the thanks of the managers for their method of doing business Tuesday evening. The hall was packed on this occasion, and together with the lotteries and "winning" ways of the ladies they prevailed upon nearly everyone present to go their last dollar which was willingly done. Seven or eight prizes were won that evening. Miss Clerno took the first prize, an elegant tea set, and if report is true something else,—but we promised to keep that out of the papers, especially the Mountaineer,—Mrs. A. J. Megler took a handsome silver castor; Miss Maggie Brown a fine picture "The Empty Sleeve"; Miss Minnie Murphy silver eake basket; J. H. Dyson wax cross; Jimmy Callahan rug; Capt. Bochau, Capt. Jack. One of Hallett, Davis & Co.'s pianos of splendid tone, which arrived direct from the East through the agency of W. K. Badger, Portland, for Mrs. A. S. Mercer, was exhibited, and greatly admired. It will speak more fully for itself at an approaching concert.

The culinary department of this fair was admirably conducted by Harry Lawson, who, with his aid-de-camp, Peter Fox, served cakes and hot coffee of superior quality, to the hungry crowd, in short order.

We have no means of telling the exact results of the fair but the amount raised is considerable.

Mrs. Arrigoni tenders her thanks to all who have so generously aided her in the enterprise, and she will ever recollect one and all with pleasure. But to that other fellow who stole the pearl card case from one of the tables Tuesday evening—well; let him settle that account in his hereafter. If he will call upon Mrs. Arrigoni she will refund him the four bits admission for the case.

Just the Notch.

A visitor to Tacoma writes the facts thus succinctly: "The surrounding country has no agricultural interests nor is it capable of having them; and so the question constantly recurs, without receiving an answer: Where is the population of the city of Tacoma to come from, and what is to support it? What good reason is there to expect that when the road is built and the cars are running between the Columbia river and Puget Sound, Tacoma will be anything different from what Kalama has proved—a mere hamlet with a population of laborers, mechanics, merchants, hotel keepers and professional men in exact proportion to the business of running the railroad, its offices and shops, and accommodating the travel. No one seemed to know the precise spot where the future city was to be. Here and there I noticed, nailed to stumps and trees, shingles bearing notices "to let," the ordinary ground rent being at the rate of one dollar per month for each front foot. The few hovels and shanties that are upon the ground bring the most extravagant rents, for no other reason that I could see than that it was that or nothing. I believe I did hear of one or more of these leases that were for sale with the tenants' business and good will. I could discover no source of business except what would grow out of the wants of those who came there to find it, or, like myself, to see what was going on."

Capt. Spotts of the United States Navy.

On a tour of inspection to the various light-houses, etc., on the north Pacific coast, left here for Portland last Monday. Capt. Spotts is a live and valuable officer, and we are glad to hear that he is taking active part for the interests of the government at this port, and will do all in his power to have placed at the mouth of this river all the necessary appliances for aiding commerce that the importance of the port demands.

A man named John Smith was arrested in Portland recently for attempting to pass a forged check upon the First National Bank.

This is Smith's second attempt in the same direction within a month. He is unquestionably affected with "emotional insanity."

ADVERTISING

Has created many a new business; Has enlarged many an old business; Has revived many a dull business; Has rescued many a lost business; Has saved many a failing business; Has preserved many a large business; And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say in old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an irrevocable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest. Long experience showing that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS. KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC. Judicious Advertising Insures A FORTUNE!

If Business is dull.—ADVERTISE! If Business is brisk.—ADVERTISE!

The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the Sheriff, and that official does the advertising.
