The remains of Gen. Edwin S. McCook, assassinated by an official at Yancton, Dakota, at a public meeting on Friday last, passed through Chicago on Monday, for interment at St. Louis. His cousin, Gov. McCook of Colerado, reached there on the same day, en route to Washington, and first learned of the General's death then.

The steamer Ironsides, of the Milwaukee and Grand Haven line, foundered in a gale on the lakes on the 14th. The seas were so heavy that nothing could could go out. Three of her boats reached shore with 23 persons on board. It is not known how much damage resulted from the gale which extended over the upper lakes. The Ironsides foundered within six miles of Grand

The Kuk-Lux trouble in Kentucky will soon be settled, it is thought, without the interposition of martial law which is not relished by anyone. A prominent lawyer of Cincinnati states that he has no doubt that the organization was a large one, but that many of the members were respectable citizens who have no sympathy with the mauraders, and that within ten days full disclosures will be made of the secrets of the order. Things are quiet now, and people freely talk over the matter.

-Baron von Rhaden, late husband of Madame Lucca, published a card in Germany, denouncing her procuring a divorce in New York, and declaring that he knew nothing of it till he read of her success in the papers. He announces his determination to have it annulled, but adds that he had previously commenced proceedings for a divorce in Berlin.

-One of the latest inventions is a portable traveling bed, which can be rolled up like a shawl in a cylindrical package some two feet long. It consists of a light hair mattrass, including single or double air pillows, a fine woolen coverlet, a camp-stool, attachments and cords for adapting the mattrass as a hammock and apparatus for filling the pillows with air.

-It is reported from Coburg, Germany, to the great digust, intimates a local journal, of all widows and maidens, that the Landtag has voted a resolution abolishing the so-called tax on celibacy, an institution of great sevice to the gentler sex. Until now there has existed in Coburg a custom of educating a certain percentage from the bequests of every unmarried man, which his heirs were obliged to pay.
