I HATE A FOOL

I hate a fool like pizen, Bad as I hate a thief, And hate a liar, for they all Bring other folks to grief;

I hate a noseing gossip, Whose nasty prying snout Pokes inter peoples business, To ferret su'thin' out,

I hate their pizen scandal, No matter how it's fixed-With guesses, lies and heresays Benevolently mixed, And dealt out free as water

In long November rains-And may the king of brimstone Reward 'em for their pains.

I allurs hate a drunkard, A loafer, and a fop; And hate a kid-glove dandy, Whose brains are soft as pop; I hate deceit and fawning,

And hate like all possessed A snarling, jawing temper That gives nobody rest.

—Oid Experience.

OUR SPICERY.

-The Home Circuit-Walking about with a baby in the night.

-"Bedad, I never was in a country before where they had so much land that they had to stack it," is the remark imputed to a son of Ireland after he had inspected the numerous hills and mountain-ranges of Oregon.

-An unsophisticated farmer when asked by the paying teller of a bank what denomination he would have his bills in, replied. "You may give me a sprinklin' of Presbyterian, but the heft on 'em I'll take in good old Hard-shell Baptist."

-The total absence of boot-jacks, pomatum pots, and other household missiles in the remains of Swiss lacustrine villages leads Dr. Hartmann the celebrated ethnologist, to the conclusion that the domestic cat was unknown to pre-historic man.

-"You ought to let me pass here free of charge, considering the be-nevolent nature of my profession," said a physician to a toll-gate keeper. "Not so," was the reply, "you send too many dead-heads through here now." The doctor did not stop to argue the point, but paid his toll and passed on.

-The caution of the New Englander in giving an answer to a direct question was illustrated the other day, when a man asked an Eastern friend whose family were not noted for very active habits. "Was not your father's death very sudden?" Slowly drawing one hand from his pocket, and pulling down his beard, the interrogated cautiously replied, "Waal, rather sudden, for him."

-An absent-minded smoker named Yancy undertook to whisper someed Yancy undertook to whisper some-thing of importance in the ear of old JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, ASTORIA, OREGON. Mr. Reynolds, Saturday, but in his absent-mindedness neglected to remove his cigar, the fire end of which was driven right into the old gentleman's ear. Mr. Reynolds jumped straight up in the air about six feet, and on coming down split Yancy's nose by a well directed blow. Yancy A. VAN DUSEN, picked himself up, and started for home, declaring in a rage that he'd not tell old Reynolds what he was going to.

-The Kansas City Times tells a PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, pathetic tale of a poor widow in deep destitution and distress in that city, GRORGE H. DURHAM. who twenty years ago was a famous actress in London and in the English provinces, and became the wife of Lord Denbigh, and afterward of somebody else. The enthusiastic newspaper man says she still "preserves all the dignity of Queen Elizabeth." We don't see how she can possibly live in Kansas City and do that.

-Andrew Jackson was once making a stump speech in a country village out West. Just as he was concluding, Amos Kendall, who sat beside him, whispered, "Tip 'em a little Latin, General, they won't be satisfied without it." The "hero of New Orleans" instantly thought of a TOWN phrase he knew, and, in a voice of thunder, wound up his speech by exclaiming: "E pluribus unum, Sine qua non, Ne plus ultra, Multum in parvo." The effect was tremendous, and the shouts could be heard for miles,

-Even a boy's vacation in the country may not be full of pleasure, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON if we may judge from a young New Yorker's letter to his mother. "The peach trees here are too slippery for me to climb; uncle won't let me sail boats in the milk pails; there's no bird's nests around that I can see: Sallie Law spilt molasses on my best pants; a smaller bog than I am, who plays with me, wears a gold chain; and I want to go home."
