THE DAILY ASTORIAN.

Corresponding with previous annum we announce this present occasion as "The Daily Astorian." This step has been taken without our previous announcement, as the demand has so constantly outstripped the supply that we have been compelled to increase our circulation more than two years past.

Very many of our friends, having the interest of Astoria at heart, and desiring to see us establish a daily newspaper here to foster that interest, have at last given us what we consider "the straw." This, a daily newspaper may be published in Astoria successively, hence, we are willing to invest the necessary capital that will be required to turn our project into a success.

By the way, in our previous number, we stated that we were not possessors of a plethora of cashes we can promise nothing definite in this enterprising line. So long as the Daily Astorian can be made to pay its current expenses, every other consideration is of no account. With this in view, we shall continue its publication but as long as we can be assured of a liberal and fearless support, dependent as it is upon the patronage of the people, or the views we may reflect, through the columns of our journal.

We may be noted for liberal and fair dealing in all the transactions of our views which shall advance the interests of properly developing all of our coast land, and in the creation and maintenance of any of our single-handed or any single-engine enterprises.

As far as seem the interest of Astoria on this coast, we are willing to proceed in any undertaking that can be properly backed by the necessary capital and from the courage of the people. It may be well to let it be known that the average Senator or Representative is so well taken up with inventions that he is always in want of capital for his projects, and of the real results of the labors of the people. There are over forty railroads in the states of Oregon and Idaho, and no one of them has been inaugurated or started. Whichever railroad possesses the favor of the people, it is not to be known that we have already had, can we thank our lucky stars for it, but rather disclaim any notion of doing policy of making friends of The people, in which case, the aid refused would be a misfortune. As it is, we have neither cause to laugh nor weep, and we can therefore, view the situation with an unprejudiced eye.
