To City Subscribers.

There are such frequent changes in the residence of our city patrons that we shall feel obliged to any who make such changes if they will report the same to this office. Otherwise we shall not be responsible for failures of the carrier to deliver the paper promptly and regularly to them.

GOING HOME.—Mr. I. C. Johnson leaves us for his home at Willow ranch, Modoc county, California, in a few days.

SAILING.—The Melanethon has sailed and the Webfoot will sail from Knappa for San Francisco on or about Wednesday next.

LOCOMOTIVE.—The Orient has another locomotive on board for the Northern Pacific railroad, which will be discharged at Kahama.

COAL CARBO.—The Adventurer has a cargo of "roads from Newcastle," the same which will probably find ready purchasers in Oregon.

THANKS.—The purser of the P. C. S. S. Co's steamer Orizaba will please accept our thanks for a full and complete file of late San Francisco papers.

OUR CEMETERY.—Visitors to the city cemetery to-day will find the grounds greatly improved. Mr. C. F. Parker is adding to the attractiveness of his lot by the erection of a fine monument.

OUR NEW STEAMER.—Counsellman Ferrell, who returned yesterday, informs us that the new steam fire engine has been blockaded at Council Bluffs, Iowa, by the fall of the Omaha bridge in the recent tornado.

SHIPMASTER'S READING ROOM.—Mr. Peter Wilhelm has permanently fitted up a shipmaster's reading room in connection with the Can Can in Astoria. The latest shipping news and homeward and outward bound shipping lists are kept on file. Call and see him.

DEATH OF MRS. KESTER.—"In the midst of life we are in death." How true. Mrs. Jennie E. wife of C. J. Kester, esp. of Oregon City, so recently here on a visit, and over to Hiwaco and Oysterville, died of heart disease on the 22d ult., only a few days after her return home from Astoria.

OREGON STATE FAIR.—The advertisement of the State Agricultural Society, in another column explains everything with respect to the "annual festival at Salem, beginning on the 8th of October. We hope the weather will be fine for all who desire to attend.

NOT ALL DEAD.—G. W. Lewson in the Statesman, says: "To show you that the fools are not all dead, please insert from to-day's dispatches: 'The Tribune says the report is that Queen Victoria, Prince of Wales and the Duke of Argyll are all investigators of spiritualistic phenomena, and furthermore it is said that the princess Beatrice is a very fine medium.'

HOSTILES.—The Puget sound papers cannot find anything too hostile to print against Goodall, Perkins & Co., for sending their teamsters to Astoria. The Courier says: "This northern coast has been the graveyard of aged and infirm steamships long enough and we prefer the owners of such craft should seek elsewhere for living freighters than for floating coffins." Such jealous expressions can be helped, but in Astoria the "Can Can" can be stopped.

PUGET SOUND FISH.—The Oregonian says that Mr. G. T. Myers says "fish are large and run late in November. It is scarcely time for us to get the silver salmon in any quantity as they usually do not run until the others have stopped for a week or ten days. Indians all think, and whites predict, a good run until November. We have already packed 4,500 cases, and the new run of salmon bids fair to be large. The silver salmon are large and fat and deep red color, and superior, canned, to Columbia river fish."

The Can Can in Astoria.

The Salem and Portland press have had considerable to say with respect to to "Can Can," a traveling exhibition of so called female minstrels, to witness whose performances, the bills say "positively no ladies will be admitted." Yesterday an agent who represents this exhibition called at our office to leave an advertisement for an exhibition to be given at Liberty hall to-morrow evening. We had formed a decided repugnance to the exhibition from having been shown, (by councilman Warren), one of the little yellow doggers, which may be considered obscene, at least we think if you are a parent you would not like to have such posters thrown around where one of your little boys could pick it up and carry it to the family fireside, hence we presumptuously declined his advertisement and his money, and meeting with members of the city council afterwards we were forced to bring it to this attention, and the following letter is the result of that interview: •

To the City Treasurer and to the City Auditor and Clerk:
GENTLEMEN:—You are hereby notified that you are ordered not to issue any license to the proprietor or agent of the Ida Cerito sensation show or Madame Kestel's female minstrels and can can dancers, or Morgan's living pictures.
Yours, &c.,
D. C. IRELAND, Mayor.

THE UNKNOWN.—Says a writer from Seaside, in the Oregonian: "Passing along the shore, we come to the graves of two unknown sailors, with no inscription save this: 'Found upon the beach, April—1865.' Here, perhaps, upon a foreign strand, a kind father, a tender husband, a beloved brother or son, has found an unwept grave and with the waves chant their sad requiem above the nameless dead, possibly in some lumber home in a far-off land, their memories still live and their names are not forgotten."

LEWIS RIVER PRODUCE.—The Lewis River packet made the port of Astoria under very unfavorable circumstances, night before last, but if we may be permitted to judge from the samples of fruit left at our office, Mr. McOranick may feel proud of his success. In finding the cream of the country. His boat, the Ellen McAnan, was heavily loaded and he concluded to take the Gazette, crossing Cathlamet bay, when his small boat swamped and he lost about $700 worth of "the best market could afford." He is not to be beat, however, and after disposing of what he had left; will return and try it again. He has established himself regularly in this trade, and don't propose to allow himself to be swamped.

It is too late in the day to argue to intelligent business men the propriety and necessity of advertising themselves. The fact is too well organized now that only those houses which advertise judiciously prosper, and only those pull through the hard times successfully which keep their names and wares constantly before the public eye. The experience of every intelligent and educated business man is clear upon this point, and hence the columns of a new-paper, especially in what are called "dull times," will give the roster of the business men of a place who may be relied upon as intelligent, prudent and enterprising. Only those who understand the art of advertising (and it is an art), know that the effective mode is to keep the public constantly and steadily apprised of what they have for sale.

Tillamook County.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ASTORIAN.]

In accordance with your request that some person would write up a description and statement of the capabilities of Tillamook county, I submit the following:

In geographical position Tillamook county is bounded on the north by Clatsop county, on the east by Washington and Yamhill counties, on the south by Benton county, and on the west by the ocean, having a coast line of about sixty-five miles and containing something over 400 square miles. It contains two bays, named respectively Tillamook and Netarch; the former being the larger of the two, being about fourteen miles in length and five in width, on an average; and having eighteen feet of water on the bar at low tide, (vide Kinglow's report to the U. S. Coast survey.) The entrance channel runs due east and west, being perfectly safe for vessels drawing from seventeen to twenty feet. The anchorage is good, as the bay is protected on the south and west by a range of mountains and sand hills which render it perfectly safe from south and west gales.

Netarch bay is about the same in length as Tillamook and about three miles in width. The channel, in starting from the bay, runs about northwest until it reaches the bar, when it turns rather abruptly to the southwest. It is only safe for vessels of light draft. This bay is noted for its oysters.

Both bays contain an abundance of salmon, clams, crabs, pogies, flounders, tom cods, blue bass, ducks and geese, while the rivers emptying into them are well stocked with mountain trout. About two-thirds of the county is heavily timbered; in the low lands and flats flourish the spruce, hemlock, cottonwood and alder, while on the hills and mountains grow luxuriantly the fir and larch interspersed with a fine growth of cedar, among which sport an abundance of elk, deer and bear, to say nothing of coon, beaver, mink, muskrat and fishers.

The county contains some of the finest land in the state, consisting of prairie, river bottom and tide land; the river bottom being the most productive and of which there is plenty to be taken. Wheat, oats, barley, flax, potatoes and vegetables of all kinds grow luxuriantly; apples, pears, plums, cherries, gooseberries, currants, strawberries, and in fact all small fruits do well, but the staple production of Tillamook county is grass. Timothy, red top, orchard grass, blue grass, and clovers of all kinds grow to perfection, making it, as it is, the finest dairy county in the state. The butter made here is the best in the Oregon market, and the amount made is steadily growing every year. In order to develop this branch of industry and render it as it will eventually be the main business of the county, we need the same plan and system as that used so successfully in the state of New York, namely, the establishing of cheese and butter factories at proper locations; each factory to consume the milk of from 100 to 300 cows. The money invested in these factories would be a surer investment than any other branch of business in the state, butter never failing to bring from 20 to 30 cents per pound wholesale and cheese from 12 1/2 to 25 cents per pound, according to quality. Our hundred pounds of butter to any common cow is the average here for the summer, which, say at 20 cents per pound would amount to $2,000 for 100 cows; and as it is calculated by experts that 3 pounds of cheese can be made to one pound of butter, we have the amount of 3,000 pounds which, say at 12 1/2 cents per pound would amount to $3,750, to say nothing of the pork made at the same time. Owing to want of capital or inclination, none of the citizens of the county have made any attempt at the business and it is for that reason that I have called such particular attention to it, hoping that some person having a knowledge of the business and capital to invest, would come and establish himself here.

Fearing, Mr. Editor, that I am getting my article too long I will bring it to a close for this time and if acceptable will trouble you at some future time. I wish to call the attention of business men to several openings here for the remunerative investment of capital in my net.

Yours respectfully,
E. H. COLEMAN.

The Baltimore Times says that Osman Pasha is a Maryland republican, and stamped the state for Grant. That's too thin.

The New York Times credits the report circulated by Mormon dissenters in Polo, Ills., that Brigham Young's death was by suicide.

New York Aldermen are inquiring into the cause of the late fatal fire. They find that much of the loss of life and property was due to an insufficient supply of water.

Gen. Crook and staff left Cheyenne on Wednesday last for Camp Brown, from which point a detachment of the 5th cavalry, under Gen. Merritt, and a part of the 2d cavalry went to intercept the Nez Percés.

The next legislature of California will be about ten majority on joint ballot democratic. House will be close. San Francisco elects democratic mayor, five commissioners, and superintendent of schools.

A meeting of the "apostles" was held at Salt Lake city on the 6th, to take steps for the future management of the Mormon Church. Two of the twelve apostles, Orson Pratt and Joseph F. Smith, are in Europe, but will return to Utah immediately.

The New York Evening Post says that the lack of water at the scene of the fatal fire was due to the small size of the mains in the neighborhood. Hydrants furnished only about five pounds pressure apiece, instead of 20 or 25. The heat of the ruins is such that it will be impossible to dig in them at present for bodies.

A dispatch from Camp Robinson, 5th, says: Crazy Horse was arrested here last night, and is now a prisoner. Seventy-five people of Lame Deer's band surrendered at Camp Sheridan yesterday. They stated that the rest of the band numbering 500, under Fast Bull, will be in four or five days.

A Paris dispatch of the 4th says that ex-president Thiers died of apoplectic embolism. He arose on Monday morning and worked until 7:30 when he went for an hour's walk on the terrace. At noon he took luncheon with a good appetite, but towards the end of the repast he stammered out a few words, his mouth contracted, his eyes became covered with film and he was carried to bed. His physicians were sent for and in 20 minutes after the attack he was dead.

The people of Oregon are not burned up four months in summer and frozen or snowed in six months in winter, nor millions of property swept away in a night by overwhelming floods and devastating hurricanes, as they frequently are in the eastern and western states of the union. They do not live in fear of being carried to untimely graves in hundred, by the summer fevers that prevail in the Southern states, nor of being overwhelmed by earthquakes that visit California every two or three years, nor yet by its flood-overs fifth or tenth year, nor died up by its drouths every third or fourth year. The summer diseases so destructive to human life among children in the Atlantic states are almost unknown in Oregon.

The sloop Magnet one of the finest passenger boats on the bay, under command of Capt. John K. Wirt, one of the most experienced masters employed in these waters, is ready for special trips anytime. We recommend the Magnet to anyone in want of a pleasure trip on the bay, or to points of interest about Astoria, during the summer season.
