Cemetery Notice.

The undersigned Sexton of the Astoria Cemetery, in view of the fact that the cemetery grounds are now permanently located, wishes all persons owning lots in the grounds to report the number and block to him; also, all persons who have buried friends in the grounds at any time, are requested to address him through the Post-office, or call upon him at his office, and furnish him with a list, embracing the name of deceased, age, when buried, the lot or block upon which the burial was made, and such other information as will enable him to bring order out of chaos.

F. FERRELL, City Sexton.

Astoria, Oregon, Sept. 29, 1877.

NOTICE TO SHIP MASTERS.

The undersigned respectfully desires to inform Masters of vessels entering the port of Astoria that there actually exist such as real live stevedors right here at Astoria, without their being obliged to travel a hundred miles up the river to find one, and in the end be compelled to take the man particularly pointed out to them by the Portland ring whether agreeable to the Captain or not, take him he must. I remarked they were compelled to take the man pointed out to them and I repeat it; for, the shipmasters once in the sanctorium of the Portland ring has no choice but patiently to submit to the one man concern.

It is a well known fact that stevedore bills constitute one of the principal items of ships bills in all commercial ports; but under the present systematic arrangements of the Portland ring managers, the Captains opinion on that subject, there, is never called into question or consulted, every precaution being studiously taken, and every avenue to approach the Captain on that subject by outsiders being zealously guarded by the toters and wire-pullers of the ring leaves no alternatives, but, for the Captain submissively to accept the conditions held out by them.

But I will here take the liberty to state, for the special benefit of ship Masters, and I am able to prove my assertion, that I can save to any ship Captain or owner the round sum of three hundred and four dollars in U. S. gold coin, on every 1,000 tons of wheat or flour that may go into their ships here at Astoria, and if ship Masters chose to accept my proposition, I'll guarantee the best satisfaction at figures proportionally nominal compared to Portland rates.

Under the present system of employing stevedores at Portland the Master of a ship is completely at the mercy of the consignee agent or charter-party, who makes it their business to point out their man Jack and the Captain is of necessity compelled to accept the conditions held out by them, the utmost care being taken and tender solicitude exhibited towards the Captain, in order to guard and protect him from all danger of approach or contact with outside parties, for fear of opposition, as from appearance, he is never for a moment to forget or by the toters and button-holers of the ring, from the moment he sets foot on terra firma, until he's got his clearance in his pocket and on his way out.

But three hundred and four dollars on every 1,000 tons can be deducted from any ships expenses in the port of Astoria by my system of stevedoring, which otherwise goes into the capacious pockets of the so-called Portland boss-rigger and stevedore. But I'll here trespass on your patience and venture to remark, and I'll base my opinion at any time or place, that neither of the parties, demonstrating themselves riggers and pain themselves on to such, possess the ability to even rig a plunger or cut a boot rope for a royal yard, far less rig a ship. I make this assertion because I am positive of what I say or speak, having been born in ports of the Atlantic states on the Pacific coast and for a matter of ten years on the Columbia river engaged in stevedoring myself, and consequently am pretty well posted as to the abilities of most men in that particular branch of business around here, having had ample opportunities to test them all; the latter referred to may be able to cross top-gallant yards with pipe-stems, but never did nor never will know how to cut a set of rigging for, or rig a ship.

As regards the loading of ships, I can here safely state, and defy any one to contradict it, that after deducting the labor bill from the sum total against every 1,000 tons at Portland rates and charges; three hundred and four dollars pass into the hand of the boss-rigger and stevedore as a consideration for the use of the masts, ten dollars worth of lumber, which may be brought into requisition for fifty ships without deteriorating a particle of their original value. Three hundred and four dollars for every twenty hours work or use of their schuits to side some sticks on, is pretty good interest on ten dollars of capital invested, why, it knocks spots off all your bonanza mines and stockbroking speculations in America.

But what surprises one most is how ship Captains will permit themselves to be bamboozled and fleeced by a set of oily tongued sanctimonious bombugs rather than deal with square matter of fact men. I can prove my ability and competence of being thoroughly conversant with the business I refer to, and prepared to prove to any ship Captain how and in what manner I can reduce their stevedore bills to the amount of the above mentioned figures, and load their ships with equal dispatch, promptness and precision as any Portland stevedore, provided Captains chose to consult me on the subject.

CHARLES YOUNG.
