More Railroad Iron for Oregon.

H. L. Gregg & Co. have a vessel railroad iron, etc., for the Columbia river, and they announce that the Tabor will be followed by other vessels, having contracted for several cargoes of railroad iron and material, with the option of loading part of vessels' capacity with general cargo. Referring to this business the Standard says:

Mr. R. Koehler, agent for German capitalists who are interested in the Oregon and California railroad and Oregon Central railroad, was called some months ago to of way is obtained.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We do not know who is responsible for the outrage about to be perpetrated upon eastern Washington territory, by making that beautiful and fertile region known as Yakima a sort of Vandieman's land for all the scurvy scamps belonging to the Fute and similar tribes of California Indians, but of one thing we feel quite confident, that it is a shameful proceeding. What are we to do with four or five hundred ugly customers like these? We wish we could agree fully with Bro. Hand, in the concluding remarks of the following paragraph from the Mountaineer, but we fear that it will be a very doubtful and dangerous thing to wait for the settlement of the country to bring about such results, in view of present difficulties in eastern Oregon and Washington territory. The Mountaineer says:

The Indians we mentioned recently as being en route from Camp Harney to this place are expected to arrive on Five-mile creek on Friday next, and as soon as arrangements can be made will be brought to town or vicinity. These Indians cumber about 460, big and little. A portion of them are "prisoners of war," captured by General Howard last summer, and the others are members of Winnemucca's band, whose brother accompanies the expedition. The advance agent of this circus is our old friend, Jame: N. Clark, of Grant county, from whom we receive an account of the trip. Mr. Clark has been preceding the outfit a few days to purchase the necessary supplies of wood, beef, making his purchases at very reasonable figures, excepting only in one or two instances. The outfit consists of about 460 Indians, two
