Black and stormy weather yesterday. Common Council meet again tonight. Onion sets and garden seeds at J. W. Gearhart's. Great Republic crossed the bar outward yesterday morning. Mr. C. J. Trenchard has gone to San Francisco on business. Flour is sold in this city at $5.50 per barrel by Warren & McGuire. Mr. N. Johansen of upper town was a passenger to San Francisco by the Great Republic. Warren & McGuire have the early rose potatoes for seed. Farmers, please remember this. Everything will be fixed up in splendid style about Barth & Myers music-hall in a short time. Their large organ is a very great attraction. Carl Adler has secured the services of an expert watchmaker, and is now prepared for business in that line. All work warranted. Repairing of all kinds done neat and cheap. The steamship Oregon made the run from Portland to Astoria in six hours, on Sunday last. The Great Republic made it the same day in seven hours. The distance traveled was about 125 miles. The ASTORIAN came very near having one reader less at Knappa. He thought he was taking bear-berry bitters, but it turned out to be horse medicine. He is slowly recovering from the effects of his error. No cards. Mr. A. F. Stroom, of North Cove, informs us that the remains of a man, supposed to be a soldier, were discovered by Indians near Snag-island, in Shoalwater bay last week. The remains appear to have been in the water a long time. Owing to the high water the transportation of coal at Seattle has been temporarily suspended. A small portion of the track is submerged but no material damage has been done. Engines cannot run for the fact that the fires would be put out by the water. The people of Clackamas county are in earnest in the matter of building a railroad from Molalla valley to Oregon city, and several well attended enthusiastic meetings have already been held in the interest of the enterprise, and much solid aid has been pledged. Mr. John Douglass, engineer at Bain & Co.'s works met with a very painful accident yesterday, which will probably lay him up for some time. As he was feeling to test the vibration of a saw-shaft one of his fingers came in contact with a bolt head, carrying it down through the opening and tearing the flesh badly. The wound was dressed by Dr. Severn. Among the passengers by the steamship Geo. W. Elder for this port, we find the names of Gen. Adair and wife, Miss Adair, John Adair, S. B. Adair, R. D. Hume, A. S. Abernethy and wife, D. B. Foster. We are informed that Mr. C. Lieneweber is also a passenger. The list is a long one, and possibly other Astorians are on board whose names do not appear.

Hon. J. F. Caples.

The Oregon city Enterprise says: Among the most ardent, and persevering workers to find a solution to the mysterious murder of Mrs. Hager, is our eminent district attorney the Hon. J. F. Caples. Through the storm that raged on Sunday last he drove from Portland to this city, making inquiries at every step, not allowing a stone unturned that could afford the faintest clue. On Tuesday evening he again came here working hard with the sheriff on what information is already collected. Mr. Caples remained in town until this morning when he will conduct the trial of Joseph Groeder on behalf of the state. The community can rest satisfied that while the case is in the hands of so persevering, and indefatigable a gentleman, that justice will be done in the premises. In connection with cases of this kind, we would state that the distinguished gentleman is irrevocably against extending the faintest leniency towards convicted prisoners of any grade; more particularly for murder, justly believing that such weakness has an opposite effect on the criminal classes. The Standard says the Wide West made the run from Portland to the Cascades recently, in three hours and forty-three minutes, with four landings. She accomplished this under a "cut-off" on her engines, and was not worked at full stroke during the run except in backing in making her landings. We have seen specimens of coal from the Abernethy mines at Oak point. Dr. Aug. C. Kinney says it stands the test very well indeed. The vein is nine feet in thickness, and only two and one-half miles from the Columbia river. George Abernethy went below on the Oregon to try and make arrangements for opening the mine. At the annual school meeting in this district last evening there was a very large attendance. Capt. Geo. Flavel was almost unanimously re-elected director for the ensuing term of three years. Capt. Hustler was also re-elected clerk. A tax of five mills was levied on the assessable valuation of property in the district for school purposes. Col. Geo. Hunter proprietor of Grange city, on the Snake river, informs Mr. Robert Carruthers of this city, that he has a quantity of wheat ready for shipment "to Astoria direct." This wheat was raised in Columbia county, W. T. He says that farmers, who have straw and feed for their stock will not lose by the freeze up and snows, but that thousands of heads in large herds, whose owners never think of putting up feed for them, will be lost, unless the grass starts early. The new state house just completed at Lansing, Michigan, cost $1,505,000, and the plan shows that the structure isn't much larger than the new capitol of Oregon, which will cost less than one-third this amount; strange to say, no charge of a steal is made by the people. The fact is, the Oregon state capitol building will be the cheapest building for the purpose contemplated of any in the United States, and our steel howlers can have no possible pretext for making capital out of it on the score of the lack of frugal and economical judgment displayed in its erection. A citizen of Knappa was moving last week, and wanting to haul considerable of a load yoked two young men and a steer up together and hitched them to a sled. They got along first rate, and made a full team to all intents and purposes, but the steer backed, and that made pulling a little harder on the balance of the team. This reminds us of Lish Applegate's experience at breaking a steer in the early days of Oregon. Lish was yoked up with the steer and the steer ran off. With his legs flying behind him like drum sticks Lish kept up with the steer as the pair of them broke down the lane at a tearing rate. Meeting a friend Lish sung out to him: "Stop us! stop us! we are running away!!!" They were stopped, and the boys began to unyoke Lish, when he turned around panting and imploring said: "Unyoke the other ox first; I'll stand."

Buggy Riding.

"Suppose," said he, in accents soft, "A fellow, just like me, Should axle little girl to wed— What would her answer be?" The maiden drops her liquid eyes— Her smiles with blushes mingle— "Why seek the bridal halter when You may live on, Sur eingle?" And thus he spoke—"Oh, be my bride, I ask you once again; You are the empress of my love, And there shall ever reign. I'll never tire of kindly deeds To win your gentle heart; And saddle be the shaft that rends Our happy lives apart!" Upon the cheeks the maiden felt The mantling blushes glow— She took him for her faithful hub— To share his wheel or whoa. —Stray Gems.

The Daily Experiment says there has been quite an increase of population in Chehalis county the past year and the tide of immigration still continues. The fame of that district of country is extending and the result is that it is fast becoming the garden-spot of western Washington. One signal advantage this valley possesses over many others is that it has no summer overflow. The Chehalis flows from the coast range of mountains, which are covered with comparatively a small amount of snow. The rivers flowing from the Cascades are subject to midsummer freshets which sometimes destroy crops.

The young man Fenton, recently shot at Sheridan, is hardly expected to live.

Talking about the narrow-gauge railroad to Lebanon and Brownsville, the Register says: As Albany possesses ample water power facilities, here is where a large portion of the wheat ought to come; and every bushel of wheat that comes here ought to be converted into flour before it is sent off to the markets of the world. This would save profit enough in one year to build two such roads.
