Theater.

in the musical series of good books, the present season, we have the privilege of announcing two beautiful and exciting series of plays, which we believe will be a great favorite with the public.

The first is a new series of operas, and the second is a series of plays, which we believe will be a great favorite with the public.

The first series consists of three operas: 'The Marriage of Figaro,' 'The School for Scandal,' and 'The Barber of Seville.'

The second series consists of three plays: 'The Merchant of Venice,' 'The School for Scandal,' and 'The Barber of Seville.'

The three plays in each series are written by the same author, and are all designed to appeal to the same class of audience.

The operas are sung by the famous company of singers, and the plays are acted by the well-known company of actors.

In memory of our beloved patrons, we have arranged for the following series of operas: 'The Marriage of Figaro,' 'The School for Scandal,' and 'The Barber of Seville.'
